

Little News Is Obtained About Trial

War Information Office
Tries to Get Two Bulletins Daily From Commission

One Man Is Source
General McCoy Will Be
One From Whom Reports Come

Washington, July 10 (AP)—The two big vans carrying eight accused Nazi plotters to their life or death trial swung into the Justice Department courtyard 45 minutes earlier than usual today as the secret proceedings moved one day further toward a decision on their fate.

Whether the early arrival meant a stepping up of the trial's gait or whether it was just another maneuver to evade the curious was only one of many questions left unanswered by the military commission's policy of almost airtight secrecy.

Few of those connected with the trial were seen to enter the wall-ed-off area on the fifth floor of the justice department building where the commission is setting. Apparently the officials came through a maze of inner offices or by private elevators.

War information officials continued their effort to expand the information available to the public, perhaps by securing the release of two bulletins daily.

The first break in the barrier against publicity which was raised in the interest of national security came late yesterday with the issuance of two brief statements by Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, president of the seven-general trial commission.

Information Limited
The information was limited to a disclosure that the proceedings began on Wednesday with disposal of some "preliminary procedural motions;" that seven witnesses testified during the first two days, and that all participants were sworn to secrecy.

It took a determined effort by Elmer Davis, recently-appointed OWI director, and a conference among President Roosevelt, Secretary of War Stimson and Davis to wrench that much loose.

The military kept a firm grip on the information to be released by providing that it could come only from General McCoy.

There were indications that the case being unfolded by the prosecution might have reached the stage of telling the story of the chase and capture of the German prisoners, who were trained in sabotage at Berlin. This could only be conjectured, however, since the official information lacked such detail.

An official who may have been familiar with prosecution plans prior to the trial, but who declined to permit use of his name, intimated that no more than a score of witnesses would be called, and that, at the present rate, the government might complete its case by Saturday night.

If that occurred, the trial could be ended very quickly thereafter, since there was some intimation that much of the defense case might be presented through cross-examination of prosecution witnesses.

Meanwhile, F. B. I. Director J. Edgar Hoover gave a strong implication that the persons who aided the men after they arrived in this country might be tried on treason charges.

Speaking on the radio last night, Hoover declared that "those who gave them (the eight Nazis) aid were traitors. Treason shall not become profitable."

Some persons who aided the eight men already have been arrested, but no official statement of their number or identity has been made.

No. 7 Stamp Valid
"Bonus" Sugar Can Now Be Bought, O. P. A. Says

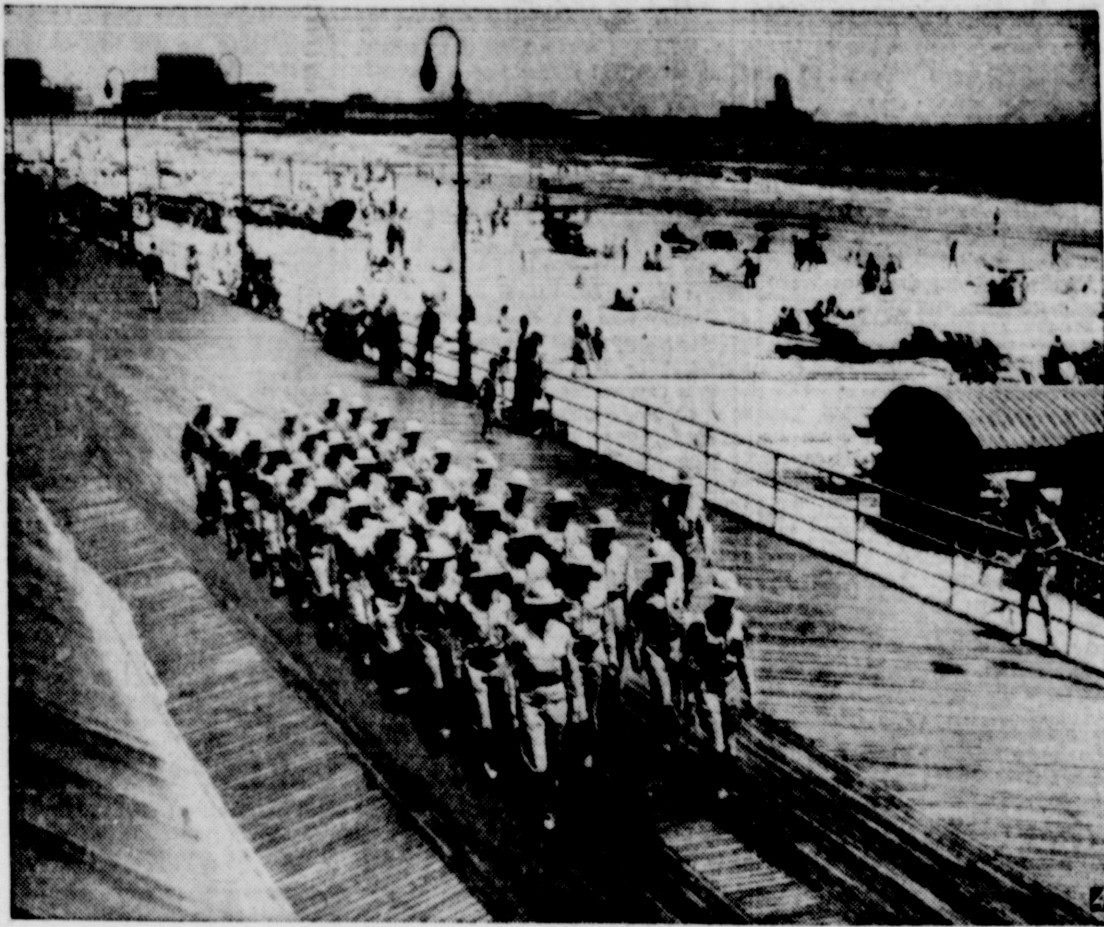

Washington, July 10 (AP)—You can now buy your extra 2-pound "bonus" allotment of sugar by presenting ration stamp No. 7 to your grocer.

The stamp became valid this morning, O. P. A. announced, and will be used until midnight of August 22, as authorized by O. P. A. last week.

The sugar purchasable with stamp No. 7 is in addition to the regular rations provided by stamps No. 5 and No. 6. No. 5, also good for a 2-pound sugar purchase, may be used until midnight, July 25, after which stamp No. 6 may be used until midnight August 22.

Gets $120,000,000
Washington, July 10 (AP)—A Senate appropriations subcommittee approved today an appropriation of $120,000,000 to operate the office of price administration for the current fiscal year—$90,000,000 less than Administrator Leon Henderson originally requested but $45,000,000 above the sum voted by the House.

Registration Total
For City Is 1,328

Only Two 'D' Cards Given in First Day Sign-Up for Gasoline

There were 1,328 "A" gas ration cards issued in Kingston on Thursday, the first day of registration, and two "D" cards, as compared 1,890 registration cards issued on the first day of registration when gas rationing first went into effect.

Today and Saturday are the last two days of registration and the hours are from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the elementary schools and from 6 to 9 o'clock in the evening at the Kingston High School.

It is interesting to note that the total registration during the first three days of the gas rationing that a total of 5,408 cards were issued at that time. Autoists who are registering today and Saturday if they believe they are entitled to supplementary supplies of gasoline must apply for a blank when they register. This blank then is taken home to be filled out and must be mailed to the Kingston City War Price and Rationing Board in the Millard Building near the Central Post Office.

It was emphasized today that these supplementary blanks must be mailed to the local rationing board and not presented personally. The board later will consider all supplementary requests and either grant or deny them.

The registration Thursday follows:
School No. 1 ..... 31
School No. 2 ..... 34
School No. 3 ..... 97

Majority Is Opposed

Washington, July 10 (AP)—First returns from a poll of the house showed today a majority opposed to consideration of a sales tax when the new $5,800,000,000 revenue bill reaches the floor for debate next week. Rep. Robertson (D-Va.), who sent all members a questionnaire yesterday inquiring whether they would like an opportunity to vote on a 5 per cent retail sales tax which would raise an additional $2,500,000,000, had received less than 50 replies but a majority had answered "No."

Mrs. Ross Dies At Local Hospital

Bronx Woman Is Victim of Accident Injuries
Sustained July 6

Mrs. Elva Ross, 53, of 2685 University avenue, The Bronx, injured in an automobile accident on Route 9-W, about half a mile from the Lake Katrine turn-off on Monday afternoon, died at the Benedictine Hospital at 5:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon. An autopsy was performed at the hospital this morning.

Following the accident it was stated that Mrs. Ross sustained a possible injury to the liver, possible fracture of the skull in addition to other injuries.

Mrs. Theresa Marz, driver of the car in which Mrs. Ross was riding, also was taken to the Benedictine Hospital suffering from fractured ribs, concussion of the brain and severe lacerations. She is reported to be improving and her condition today was given as fair.

The plane crash in which his life apparently was gravely endangered occurred, the navy said, "at an airfield at a west coast port of the United States."

The co-pilot killed was Lieutenant Thomas Morton Roscoe, 29, of Oakland, Calif.

The navy said that several passengers were "slightly injured" and described Nimitz's injuries as minor and insufficient to cause any interruption of his journey.

Nimitz, 57, who has been commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet since the relief from that assignment of Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, received this citation from King: "For exceptionally meritorious service as commander-in-chief, U. S. Pacific fleet. In that position of great responsibility he exercised sound judgment and decision in his employment and disposition of units of the Pacific fleet during the period immediately following our entry into war with Japan. His conduct of the operations of the Pacific fleet, resulting in successful actions against the enemy in the Coral Sea in May, 1942, and off Midway Island in June, 1942, was characterized by unflinching judgment and sound decision, coupled with skill and vigor. His exercise of command on all occasions left nothing to be desired."

Invasion Will Be Terrific

Opening of Second Front Will Give World View of Greatest Maneuver
in All Military History

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

Public anxiety over the prospects of a second front in western Europe naturally has increased as the result of the dangerous position created by Hitler's million-man onslaught in the Don river zone against Red troops who are making such a magnificent effort to carry out the admonition to give "not one more step backwards."

Many inquiries are coming my direction and it is even urged that this column indicate how an invasion of the continent would be carried out. Well, in the first place all we know about the time is that a front is to be set up at the earliest feasible moment. We mustn't be impetuously impatient.

As to how it will be achieved, one recalls the remark of a British naval officer recently that "I can promise you the invasion will not come in the way everyone expects." Anyway it presents a new problem, for no comparable operation has been carried out under conditions of modern warfare. We can say that it will be one of the most dangerous and difficult undertakings in all military history.

We know in advance that the anxious Hun is forearmed. The position undoubtedly is as succinctly described the other day by a German high command spokesman: "We are expecting an invasion at any time. Let them try it. We are ready."

The whole occupied coastal area, from Norway clear down through France, has been heavily fortified. A network of strategic railways has been built. The Nazis have even brought up big guns from France's Maginot line.

The preliminary to any invasion must be a terrific aerial bombardment of all enemy coastal positions, to destroy defenses and force the enemy air fleet farther inland from their airdromes. The British say the Nazi defenses won't

Various Brokers
Doubt Inflation's
Control Will Hold

Firm Measures Needed,
They Say, to Maintain
Price Ceilings Set
by Henderson

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York, July 10 (AP)—Are inflation controls holding?

Some Wall Streeters doubt it. In the past two days, buyers have given the stock market its busiest trading of the year, boosting leading shares $2 to $4 or more. Meanwhile, wheat prices were bid up around five cents a bushel at Chicago.

At the same time, others pointed out that President Roosevelt's seven-point program for keeping prices down was announced only last April 27, that Price Administrator Henderson's retail price ceiling was clamped down only May 18. While some adjustments and some apparent wavering may appear, they said, control is so vital that firmer measures are eventually inevitable, if needed.

Only last Wednesday, Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator, warned that price inflation would "lead to ultimate bankruptcy—national and individual."

Three recent developments were mentioned in Wall Street as leading to speculation that price controls may be cracking: Recommendation of a war labor board panel that a plea for a $1-a-day wage increase by workers in four so-called "little steel" companies be granted. The panel's recommendation still has to be decided by the board.

Approved by the office of price administration of increased prices of canned and frozen fruits and vegetables.

Passage by the Senate of a bill to permit full parity loans to farmers on six major crops. This would bring the loan value of wheat, for instance, up to $1.34 a bushel. July wheat closed in the Chicago pit yesterday at $1.21½. To become law, the measure still must pass the House, and be signed by the President.

Canada Shows Stability

Cost of living figures for Canada show stability since price ceilings were inaugurated late last year. The latest figures available from the Bureau of Labor Statistics for the United States show the cost of living in early June actually was a shade below the date when the retail price ceiling was fixed.

The big inflation problem, as seen by Commerce Secretary Jones, Price Administrator Henderson, and others in Washington, is mounting purchasing power in time of growing limitation of the amount of goods available to be bought.

Jones said that in 1943 the American people would have about $30,000,000,000 more income than the value of things for which money can be spent. "If we permit that amount of money to run wild," he asserted, "it will cause very great damage to our whole economy."

Treasury experts recommend pulling much of this money back through taxation and sale of war bonds to the public. The new tax bill, still under debate in Congress, is $2,700,000,000 short of the treasury's requested goal.

Cost of living in the United States, as based on the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics index for wage earners, showed in early June an increase of about 16 per cent over the 1935-39 average.

Meanwhile, incomes have mounted. The bureau's index of

Paul Revere Is Sworn Into Army

Fort Devens, Mass., July 10 (AP)—Paul Revere, a lineal descendant of the Revolutionary patriot, has joined the army.

In the presence of cheering troops, the 25-year-old Braintree inductee was sworn into the service yesterday by Capt. Oscar Walker. Then, emulating his famed forbear, he was mounted on a cavalry regiment charger and rode through the cantonment to the thundering applause of his new comrades.

Paul, who was born on Independence Day, 1917, on Independence avenue, Braintree, responded to the reception with this statement:

"I'm mighty proud to be a soldier for Uncle Sam. I only hope I may be privileged to serve my country, as well as the first Paul Revere."

Earlier in the day he had visited the Paul Revere statue on Paul Revere Mall in Boston where he stood in silent salute to his illustrious namesake.

His mother died while he was an infant and his father now operates a farm in Rochester, N. H.

StoneRidgeWoman Is Hurt Badly by Hit-Run Motorist

Mrs. Kate Pratt, 75, Suffers
Broken Leg and Other
Injuries; Stone Ridge
Man Arrested

Sheriff Anderson and Deputies Clayton Vredenburg and Leonard Belmont, State Trooper Malaya, who were assisted by Kingston police working on the Kingston end of Route 209 last night, were still trying today to locate a car, driven by a hit-and-run driver, that struck and severely injured Mrs. Kate Pratt, 75, of Stone Ridge, whose home is on Route 209 about a mile south of Stone Ridge and not far from the Midway Garage, was walking along the road when she was struck by a car and knocked down.

Humiston's ambulance from Kerhonkson was called and the injured woman taken to the Benedictine Hospital, suffering from a fractured leg and other injuries. Her condition this afternoon was given as fair.

It was about 8:45 o'clock when the accident was reported to the sheriff's office. The sheriff, deputies and trooper at once blocked nearby roads and began a search for the car involved, although they did not have much to go on. It had been reported that the car was proceeding south toward Kingston and police were on watch on the Kingston end.

A gasoline tank cap found near the scene it was thought might be a clue. One young man, driving in to Kingston, whose car was minus a tank cap, was questioned briefly, after being brought to the court house by the police. It soon became evident, however, that he had not been concerned in the affair.

Later the officers discovered that a car had gone into the ditch some distance north of where the accident occurred. They arrested Jasper Oakley, 30, of Stone Ridge, on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Justice George A. Tompkins of the town of Marbletown ordered Oakley held at the county jail pending a hearing later. Sheriff Anderson said at noon today that an investigation was under way to determine whether Oakley had been concerned in the accident in which Mrs. Pratt was injured.

State Educator Praises Newspapers As Vital to Good Marks for Students

Albany, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—Don't snatch the newspaper from junior and then complain about his low school marks.

That advice to parents comes from E. R. Van Kleeck, assistant state commissioner of education, as New York school steadily tie curricula, textbooks and examinations more closely to the war and day to day world events.

"Publishers are rushing into print textbooks keyed to the war for use by first graders to high school students," he said in an interview today. "By fall the conflict will be coloring many forms of classroom work."

Already in some schools the time-honored chant of "I see the dog" has changed to "I see the plane," eighth graders get arithmetic examples involving production costs of rubber, and high school seniors are expected to know the strategic and economic importance of Martinique.

"The boy or girl who reads the newspapers objectively and intelligently is going to have the advantage," Van Kleeck asserted. "We could no more teach school today without the newspaper than we could have taught in at hundred years ago without the slate."

Explaining the movement "to acquaint the pupil of 1942 with the world of 1942," Van Kleeck said drawing on daily events for instruction "not only makes it more graphic and interesting for pupils but helps to interpret our war aims to students and, through them, to their parents."

The war came home forcibly to takers of June regents examinations who, the commissioner remarked,

Swift Trial Lies
Ahead for Bahr,
Espionage Suspect

Former R.P.I. Student Is Arrested on Swedish Exchange Ship as German Agent

Newark, N. J., July 10 (AP)—Swift prosecution of a German-born spy suspect seized in an attempt to slip into the United States by posing as a Jewish refugee was expected today after he is arraigned on charges of espionage.

The prisoner, Herbert Karl Friedrich Bahr, 29, an American citizen through the naturalization of his late father, was seized by the FBI aboard the diplomatic exchange ship Drottningholm.

The arrest of Bahr, who was educated in Buffalo, N. Y., schools and at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., resulted from a through investigation of the refugee liner, 300 of whose 942 passengers from Europe still are being questioned on Ellis island.

"Bahr admits having been enlisted by the German espionage service during October, 1941, as an espionage agent for the purpose of returning to the United States and securing and transmitting to Germany information pertaining to the war effort of this country," Assistant F. B. I. Director P. E. Foxworth said in New York.

In a simultaneous announcement of the arrest, F. B. I. Chief J. Edgar Hoover said in Washington that the Gestapo had instructed Bahr in the art of spying as well as in writing with secret, invisible inks and had given him various addresses in Spain, Switzerland and South America where he was to send the reports of his activities.

Hoover said $7,000 in U. S. currency found on Bahr was to be used for his transportation, for obtaining military information and for "the loosening of tongues."

Foxworth added that Bahr had been furnished with a resume of the history of a Jewish family no longer could be traced so that if the money was found on Bahr, he could claim the family had given

Auto of Schwartz Located by Police

Machine Found Deserted
on Saugerties Street;
Key Missing

Mystery still shrouds the disappearance Wednesday morning of Louis Schwartz, 50, of 39 Montrose avenue, whose automobile was found in Saugerties Thursday with the ignition key gone, but his registration card in the car and a loaf of bread on the rear seat.

Mr. Schwartz for more than 20 years has operated a butcher shop at 103 Abel street, and he left his home in his automobile Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock apparently bound for the shop. Later in the morning when he failed to appear at the shop his family became alarmed and notified the police.

An intensive search on Wednesday and Thursday failed to locate the missing car, and it was not until 4:10 o'clock Thursday afternoon that Sergeant Maynard of the Saugerties police called the local police department and said an auto had been left parked at Washington and Prospect streets in that village. The registration number corresponded with the registration of the auto of the missing man and Sergeant Maynard was requested to extend the investigation and report back.

Later he called the local police and said he had learned that the auto had been parked where found on 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, which would indicate that Schwartz instead of driving to his butcher shop had driven direct to Saugerties.

Sergeant Maynard said that he had ascertained that a Mr. Robinson had seen a man, answering the description of the missing man, seated in the car about half an hour, and then left it and walked to the corner of Washington and Main streets where he stood for some time and then disappeared.

Mr. Robinson was of the opinion when he saw the man that he was waiting for a bus or seeking to hitch a ride. He did not recall in which direction the man walked away from the corner when he saw him last.

No reason is known for Mr. Schwartz's disappearance.

Germans Say Red
Attacks Break Down
With Heavy Losses
Sustained

Corridor Narrows
British Cut Rommel's
Path of Escape From Alamein

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies have swept across the upper Don river at several points, Soviet dispatches acknowledged today, while the Red armies are battling a dangerous new thrust into the Rossosh sector 100 miles south of Voronezh on the Moscow-Rostov railway.

The Nazi advance across the upper Don, 10 miles west of Voronezh, came after the Russians reported they had beaten off a series of violent assaults and inflicted bloody losses on the enemy.

Front-line dispatches said furious battles were developing on the east bank of the river as the Germans attempted to widen their wedges into Red army defense lines.

The bulk of the Fourth German Tank Army was said to be massed on the west bank to reinforce the offensive against Voronezh.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters declared broadly that Russian forces in retreat were being pursued "on a broad front" in the south—evidently referring to the Voronezh and Rossosh sectors.

"Local resistance was broken," the Nazi command asserted. "Enemy attacks supported by tanks to relieve pressure north-west of Voronezh broke down with heavy casualties."

The Nazi high command still failed to reiterate its claim, however, that Voronezh had fallen.

Dispatches to Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said the "Enemy attacks" were of a gigantic scale, with the Germans pouring in masses of fresh reserves and tanks. Russian estimates had previously declared the Nazi grand offensive was powered by 1,000,000 troops.

"Conditions west of Voronezh are becoming more complicated," Red Star said.

Front-line dispatches said the Russian attacks in good order toward Rossosh, to avoid being flanked, but conceded that the invaders had penetrated into Russian defenses in depth.

While vast battles raged over the Don Steppes for control of the vital rail line to the Caucasus, Red Star said an important Red army counter-attack to relieve pressure on Voronezh was threatening the German left flank.

"Stubbhorn battles there may have a serious influence over the position near Voronezh," the newspaper said.

It did not disclose the scene of the Soviet counter-blow, but Hitler's headquarters said the Russian attacks were attacking with strong infantry and tank forces north and northwest of Orel, a major German base, 165 miles northwest of Voronezh.

The Nazi command said the Russians were driven back after a hard battle and declared Nazi counter-attacks "sneaked off" local breaches the Russians had made.

Red Star said the situation at Rossosh was "very difficult" with the battle developing full force near the city.

200 Miles North of Rostov
Rossosh lies 200 miles due north of Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus, and within 235 miles of the great industrial city of Stalingrad (population 388,000) on the lower Volga.

Fighting under the slogan "not one more step backward," hundreds of thousands of Red army veterans and reserves were reported struggling to check the double-barreled Nazi offensive in the greatest battle of 1942.

A Red army bulletin acknowledging that the Germans had reached the vicinity of Rossosh indicated that Gen. Fedor von Bock's armies had scored a 90-mile advance eastward from Kupiansk and presumably cut the vital rail line between Russia's central and southern armies.

Against the somber background of the Soviet campaign, the 17-day-old battle of Egypt brought more heartening news for the United Nations as British Imperial headquarters indicated that Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck was slowly squeezing the Axis invaders into a potential death trap.

A flying column, hacking at the right flank of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's armored forces, had compelled the enemy to retreat north toward the Mediterranean Sea coast west of El Alamein.

Pleads Innocent

Albany, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—Leslie H. Belknap, 25, one of Albany's first selectees, pleaded innocent today to charges of impersonating an army officer and illegally wearing an army uniform. U. S. Commissioner Lester T. Hubbard sent Belknap to Albany county jail in default of $1,500 bail and postponed the case until the defendant obtains counsel. FBI agents alleged Belknap, an erstwhile riding instructor, posed as an army officer several times, including once when he appeared in a captain's uniform at funeral ceremonies for selectees. Special agent Arthur Cornelius, Jr., in charge of Albany's FBI office, said Belknap was indicted in November, 1940, with Albany's first selectee contingent but was discharged in July, 1941, because of a physical disability.

Recall Is Reported

London, July 10 (AP)—The Daily Mail published a report today that Adolf Hitler had called back his ousted army commander in chief, Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch, yielding to the insistence of his high command. There was no confirmation of this report, which came from the newspaper's Stockholm correspondent, who said it was brought by neutrals arriving in the Swedish capital from Berlin. Von Brauchitsch, who engineered most of the Nazis' conquests, was supplanted as commander by Hitler himself last December 22. The Daily Mail report said he was back again, directing the general staff work of the new German offensive in Russia.

Father Is I-A

Bridgeport, Conn., July 10 (AP)—Martin Rottman, 44-year-old newspaper editor and father of three children, is now classified I-A in the draft. Local Board 21-A said yesterday it had decided Rottman's income would be large enough, even when he was in the army, to support his wife and children, aged 11, 17 and 18. The board said it would be glad to give Rottman a hearing if he cared to present any facts on dependency. "If I have to go, I'll go," said Rottman. "I should take off some of that avoidances."

Pact Is Signed

Washington, July 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull and Prime Minister Emanuel J. Tsouderos of the Greek government in exile signed a master lend-lease pact today following the reaching of a "complete agreement on the objectives" by President Roosevelt and King George II yesterday.

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED that the Wiltwyck Rural Cemetery Association has suffered an irreparable loss in the death of the Hon. Gilbert D. B. Hasbrouck, its president since 1933. Judge Hasbrouck gave lavishly and ungrudgingly of his time to the affairs of the cemetery association at a time when it was beset by many difficulties and at all times gave ready and sympathetic ear to the problems of the Association. He was unfailing in courtesy and keen of judgment and his loss will be deeply felt by all the members of the Board of Trustees. It is with feelings of profound sorrow that this Board offers this tribute to his memory. —Adv.

Commissioned

LIEUT. F. J. AURINGER

Frank J. Auringer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Auringer, of Port Ewen, received his commission as second lieutenant on July 3. He enlisted in the army 19 years ago, and for 17 years has been stationed at Plattsburg, N. Y. A year ago he was transferred to Fort Devens, Mass.

After a ten-day furlough with his family in Florida, he will assume his new duties at Camp Blanding, Florida. He also is one of the well known ski troops.

95 Per Cent of 'Waste' Useful

72 Household Items Listed As Valuable to U. S. in Fighting Foe.

CHICAGO—Uncle Sam, in his war-time role of junk collector, can use just about 95 per cent of the stuff people are throwing away.

Some field workers of the federal bureau of industrial conservation regard this estimate as conservative in the light of industry's enormous appetite for old rags, waste paper, old rubber and scrap metals.

In every state and almost every community they have begun campaigns to convince householders that they can contribute far more to the "salvage for victory" program than a stack of newspapers or the wad of tinfoil Junior has been saving since he was six.

They want last year's license plates and your old tableware. They'll be just as pleased to get a pair of worn-out galoshes or a second-hand bird cage. Grease from the kitchen is on the conservation list, and next it may be old bones.

Scrap Drives Successful. Tin cans are about the only trash that the bureau hasn't been able to work into the program. They may find a use for them before the war's much older.

Slowly but steadily the campaigns are showing results. In Illinois, where State Salvage Director Nathaniel Leverone said the program had been especially successful, hundreds of persons are delivering grease to their butchers, razor blades to their barbers and empty toothpaste tubes to the corner drug stores.

A two-day drive conducted by the Daily Pantagraph, a Bloomington (Ill.) newspaper, brought in 2,427 sets of old automobile license plates. They weighed 1,820 pounds, and scrap dealers estimated that when the metal was put on the market it would release enough virgin steel to make 300 Garand rifles.

In the metal division, the campaigners put clothes hangers, pipe, wire, fencing, garden tools, kiddie cars, garbage cans, fireplace equipment, sash weights, picture frames, drain pipes, buckets, casters and steel wool.

Sport Goods Can Help. Rubber goods included gloves, car and bath mats, balls and other sporting goods, hose, and soles and heels.

General collection figures are hard to arrive at, but the Chicago salvage committee found out that, in a five-week period this year, collection of waste paper was up roughly 25 per cent to a total of 428,897 tons.

Another thing the conservation bureau's field workers are trying to put across is the uses to which all this salvaged material is put after it is reprocessed and returned to production.

Paper, for instance: Surveys have shown that practically all of the news and supplies going to Britain, Russia and China are packed in waterproof paperboard boxes. Army ordnance plants alone use 30 tons of paper a month to pack shells.

Save Refugees in Improvised Plane

Yanks Patch Fortress and Fly Group to Australia.

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA.—The two American airmen had never taken up a Flying Fortress before. But they patched this one up from the parts of three damaged ones—then had to do the job over because the Japanese sent bullets through the carburetor and magnet.

But finally they cleared the dead Japanese off the runway, and with child refugees stowed in the bomb bay and without instruments or maps flew their bullet-pierced bomber from Bandung in Java to Australia.

They are here now. Capt. Gerald Chermysin of Alameda, Calif., and Sgt. Harry Hayes, San Antonio, Texas, modestly dismissed the whole exploit with the explanation:

"Neither of us could have done it without the other."

The two Americans who flew the patched-up plane, last Allied aircraft to escape from Bandung before the Japanese captured that former Allied headquarters, also saved three Netherlands air force officials and eight women and children of Netherlands officials.

Veterans of 16 years in the United States air force, the two Americans, working with Malayan mechanics for 4 1/2 days in the Bandung railway shops, finished their work the afternoon of March 7 and were just preparing to take off when—Japanese planes swooped low and landed 75 parachutists.

Simultaneously a small Japanese force that had approached undetected began to attack.

The Netherlands and Japanese defenders of the airport went into action and soon wiped out the parachutists and their comrades.

Army Bread Costs Two And Half Cents a Pound

WASHINGTON.—Bread costs the army 2 1/2 cents a pound to produce, the war department reported.

A survey covering a month's operations of 17 army quartermaster bakeries disclosed the average cost. The bakeries used more than 850 tons of flour and produced 2,508,426 pounds of bread at a total cost of $60,464. The bread was made with enriched flour containing vitamins B1 and B2 and other energy-giving materials.

The army bakes two kinds of bread. Garrison bread has a thin crust like that bought in civilian stores, and field bread has a thick crust which keeps it fresh for two or three weeks.

Women Listed for War

Mexico is registering its unemployed women for war work and other occupations. Jobless women throughout the country, it is stated in Mexico City, have excellent prospects of no longer being idle now that the country is at war with the Axis powers. Registration is taking place in all parts of the country.

New York City Produce Market

New York, July 10 (AP)—Profit cashing on the brisk rally of Wednesday and Thursday, plus a desire to lighten commitments for a cloudy week-end, stemmed the rising tide in today's stock market.

Mild irregularity ruled at the start in fairly active dealings. The pace slowed appreciably thereafter. Losses of fractions to a point or so were widespread near the fourth hour.

The war news from Russia hardly was bullish. Inspiring some offerings also was a slight dimming of inflation sentiment and the thought the market's recovery had been a bit too vigorous.

Bonds and commodities were a shade mixed.

Stocks on the outside most of the day included Chrysler, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Great Northern, Westinghouse, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Texas Co., and American Smelting.

Checker Cab was an exception, jumping to a New Year's peak on a few transactions. Resistant at intervals were Standard Oil (NJ) and Woolworth.

Boys and Girls to Work

In German Arms Plants
BERN.—German high school boys and girls will spend their summer vacations this year working in munitions factories under a plan mobilizing all the Reich's labor resources, according to Berlin dispatches to the Basel National Zeitung.

Younger students are being mobilized for farm work, and schools in some sectors will be closed immediately so they may go into field camps, the dispatches declared.

Within a few weeks, it was said, there will be scarcely a German man or woman not engaged in some manner of war work.

British Taxes on Estate

Cut Deep Into Legacies

LONDON.—Taxation in Britain has reached such a high level that the £2,000,000 estate of Sir Philip Sassoon was not enough to provide an annuity of £11,000 free of all tax, which he left after other bequests to a cousin, Mrs. Hannah Gubbay.

At current tax rates a gross annual income of £312,750 would be necessary to provide such an annuity, and the capital amount required to provide such an income would be £10,425,000. It was held in the law courts that Mrs. Gubbay was entitled to have annuity based on the available funds.

Americans Live Longest

In the Prairie States

WASHINGTON.—People in the West North Central states seem to live longer than other Americans, according to census statistics recently made public.

In this region, comprising Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas, the average life span of the white population is shown by the record to be 64.7 years. Other section averages were: Pacific Coast, 63.4; East North Central, 63.3; New England, 62.9; West South Central, 62.4; Middle Atlantic and South Atlantic, 61.9; Mountain States, 60.

Feather Beds Vanish

Fighting Men Flooded

With Children's Books

DES MOINES.—Men in the armed forces don't want to read about the Bobsey Twins, Little Black Sambo or the Campfire Girls, City Librarian Forrest Spaulding reminded book donors the other day.

"It's surprising how many children's stories are being donated," he said.

Bah's Son Cuts His Birthday Cake

Albany, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—Three-year-old Herbert Bahr gaily cut a birthday cake at a children's home today, unaware his father, Herbert Karl Friedrich Bahr, 29, had been arrested by F. B. I. agents on charges of espionage.

Mrs. Bahr, the former Ruth Neeb of Watervliet, whom Bahr married in 1938, was said by her family to be working as a domestic in Buffalo.

Officials of the children's home said they have no record of the child having been visited by his father.

In Watervliet, Mrs. Thorlaf Madsen, Bahr's mother-in-law, said she did not know him well but "wish I did so I could give more information against him for the harm he tried to do our country."

Registration Proceeds

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Registration of the East's 8,000,000 motorists for gasoline rationing, which began yesterday, so far has progressed "swiftly and without serious complication," the office of price administration announced today, but no figures on the number of books issued were available.

Here car owners were reported getting their A books in from two to five minutes each, and there were no long lines of waiting drivers at any of the public schoolhouses. The new permanent coupon rationing plan goes into effect July 22 in 17 states and the District of Columbia. The basic minimum A cards will entitle each motorist to about four gallons of gasoline a week.

Because so many people are eating away from home, the demand for crockery is booming in England and 90,000,000 pieces probably will be sold this year.

Beer and mineral waters, instead of cocktails, were served at an "austerity" luncheon in Glasgow for Thomas Johnson, Secretary of States for Scotland.

Emergency Guardian

St. Louis—James L. Petty, 17-year-old Salem (Mo.) youth, is in the Navy with special permission of his newly-acquired legal guardian, Edwin Y. McNamara—recruiting officer.

"Gosh, I'd sure like to join," Petty, an orphan, said wistfully when navy officials explained regulations required the consent of parents or guardian for applicants under the age of 18.

So McNamara went to court, was appointed Petty's guardian, gave his consent for the youth's enlistment and then helped swear him in.

They'll Try Again

Chickasha, Okla.—Cadet Robert E. Boyd, Alto, Tex., found his flying lesson interrupted.

The instructor, after a series of aerial acrobatics, was surprised to see, far below, a parachute settling gently to earth.

Hmmmm! he thought. Sure enough, Boyd's seat was empty!

Boyd said his safety belt must have come unbuckled while the plane was upside down.

No Argument Now

The resignation of the county prosecutor to take a job in California left only one attorney in the county.

So the court appointed him prosecutor.

SUGAR CLARITY

Is the sugar situation clearly understood? If not, here's how: Stamp No. 5, for two pounds per person, is good up to July 27. Then Stamp No. 6 follows for the same amount, good until August 22. These are the regular rations.

Stamp No. 7 may be turned in any time between July 10 and August 22 for the bonus. This is not regular ration nor the canning allowance of five pounds per person. Stamp No. 7 gives everybody an extra two pounds.

The rationing is continued for the sake of fairness to all, but a temporary warehouse glut is thus divided up and stored on home shelves.

FOOD FOR EUROPE

Mrs. Anthony J. D. Biddle says it is time to train Army men and women for distribution of supplies. She told the National Baby Welfare Council that vitamins, concentrated foods and medicines for children should accompany the United Nations invasion force when it goes into Europe. People of occupied countries, she said, should be informed by British broadcasts not only that aid would go to them but that it was now being prepared.

Mrs. Biddle doesn't see how our soldiers can well tell mothers with hungry children that they must wait six months for proper food. They have already waited too long. It has been evident that food sent to the occupied countries did not do much good. The Nazis always got four-fifths or more of it when the ships docked. It would be very wonderful if our invading armies could be immediately followed with food and other supplies.

The important thing right now is to get necessary supplies ready for the invading armies themselves. That's the first step. Getting themselves into those countries, and the Nazis out, is the next. Without such prerequisites all kindly hopes are vain. But it is not too soon to get the foods ready to ship.

FREIGHT GLIDERS

Col. Edward S. Evans, an American pioneer in the modern art of air gliding, foresees a revolutionary form of aerial transportation. He thinks transport planes or "air locomotives" will tow through the air strings of transport gliders, very much as ground locomotives now pull freight trains on railroad tracks. He sees no reason why one locomotive-plane should not pull about 100 tons of freight, in three or four aerial cars, at a speed of 80 miles an hour.

Most people would assume that such aerial hauling would be expensive. But Col. Evans maintains that airplane freighters would be more economical than rail or truck shipping, because the trains would move so much faster. He suggests another interesting advantage. In transit, he says, "such craft could be cut loose by the pilot by means of a 'trigger release' of the tow line. This would permit one or more gliders to land at any city to which freight in those particular gliders might be consigned. The rest of the train would continue its flight without slowing down."

Thus Tennyson's dream of "pilots of the purple twilight dropping down with costly bales" would be realized. And not only goods, but men, could be landed anywhere quickly by air transport. Indeed, this latter forecast is already coming true.

GADGET PROGRESS

This period of history may be called by future historians the "Gadget Civilization." Americans have probably produced bigger, better and more varied gadgets than all other nations of all historic eras together. So it is natural that nimble-minded citizens of the Yankee type are already busy with ideas for production of a still greater wave of gadgets after the war. Already experts are said to be figuring on new miracles of standardization and mass production when the present standard is over. It seems as if the country will then be overwhelmed with old and new devices to make life easier—or at least more varied and interesting.

Yet many people are left cold by this prospect. Some even have the nerve to rise up and ask whether Yankee gadgets and gimmicks have really done so much for civilization as Americans seem to assume. It is a deluge of new mechanical devices and methods that the world needs, they ask, or is it a new spirit and a fresh look at life? Is it patents and profits that people should be concerned with, or a revival of American ideals and a renovation of the American soul?

BETWEEN TWO FIRES

An opinion poll reports Americans as believing, nearly three to one, that the foremost enemy of this country is still Germany rather than Japan. Pacific Coast people naturally regard the Jap menace very seriously, but even they show a majority of 45 to 31 recognizing the greater peril in Europe.

Such realism is reassuring. It would be fine, right now, to attack the western menace in great force, clean up the Pacific area and make Japan powerless for further harm, if that could be attempted safely. But for the present, as the bulk of Americans realize, the main job is in the eastern war theatre. Hitler and his crowd seem capable of more harm there than the Japs in the Orient. If the first of these jobs can be cleaned up, Americans can then turn their full power to crushing Japan. Meanwhile the U. S. Navy and General MacArthur together seem to be keeping the situation pretty well in hand.

NEW WAR IN OLD EGYPT

"Soldiers! Forty centuries are looking down upon you from these pyramids." With such words Napoleon inspired his French troops before their Egyptian battle in 1797.

Now that American soldiers are in Egypt to help hold off Rommel, the same inspiration should move them. They are in a land of history, and themselves are making history. Napoleon won his battle, and typical British and American bravery and endurance, backed up with enough supplies, should win this one.

Walter Millis, writer on American history, has a thought worth noting: "Too many of us think that minor inconveniences are the same thing as sacrifice."

Cheer up! It's only half the world that we're fighting.

TREATMENT OF RHEUMATISM

One of the distressing symptoms at and following the menopause is painful and sometimes enlarged joints. While this may not be as hard on the patient and the family as the mental symptoms which sometimes occur, nevertheless it means the use of painkilling drugs and sometimes actual crippling of the patient.

For many years this form of arthralgia—painful joints—was treated in the same manner as all painful joints, that is, with infection, application of heat and avoiding cold and dampness. However, as other symptoms of the menopause—hot flashes, nervousness, and mental symptoms—have been greatly helped by ovary extract, some physicians have been using the extract with some success in cases of painful joints due to the menopause.

An example of what might be called the "complete" treatment of women with this menopausal arthralgia is recorded by Dr. W. K. Ishmael, Oklahoma City, in the Journal of Laboratory and Clinical Medicine.

A low carbohydrate (starch), high vitamin diet was given to patients who were overweight and a normal, and balanced diet to the others. Colds, dampness, and drafts were avoided. Any infection (teeth, tonsils, sinus, gall bladder) was left alone during active treatment or while rheumatic symptoms were present. Extra vitamins were given where lack of vitamins was noticed. When the state at which the body processes were working was not normal, this was corrected as were also any stomach or intestinal conditions. Emotional distress and posture were corrected and pain relieved.

The specific or special treatment included the use of ovary extract and artificial fever.

Physical treatment consisted of local heat to the joints and heat to the whole body.

Inflamed joints were put at complete rest by use of splints.

Of sixty patients receiving ovary extract by injection, 82 per cent were relieved of all their symptoms, 10 per cent were improved and 8 per cent failed to improve. Of 34 patients taking ovary extract by mouth, 30 per cent failed to improve.

It is gratifying to know that the addition of ovary extract to the usual treatment of this form of rheumatism can give relief to so many patients.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

CROP OUTLOOK

Babson Discusses Wheat Situation

Gloucester, Mass., July 10.—With the harvest season just getting underway, attention is now focused on the wheat belt. Crops were never more important to the United States, to Canada, and to the rest of the world than they are today. In fact, the ultimate outcome of the war and the terms of its peace may center more around our farm commodities than around munitions. Before discussing our own crop outlook, I should like to summarize, briefly, the case abroad.

Foreign Status

First, let me say that in spite of the necessity of supplying other countries with grains, Germany is probably not hard-up. Certainly her people are not starving to death by any means. Hitler has held on to the Ukraine which is the greatest wheat producing section in the world. In addition to the Ukraine, Germany has the fields of Rumania and Hungary to draw upon. Particularly in Poland and Greece the situation is very bad. It is, however, possible that Greece may get some United States help.

Crop conditions in Norway, the Netherlands and Czechoslovakia can be considered definitely below pre-war standards. The people of France, Belgium, and Yugo-Slavia are definitely underfed and starving in many instances. Spain, still feeling the effects of her civil war, is also in a bad way. All European countries can look forward only to further cuts in feeding. This also applies to Italy which—before the Libyan defeat—was to be the location of the much talked of "Second Front."

Tide May Turn

If Norway or France are invaded by the United States, or if Russia pushes the Germans out of the occupied Ukraine, the situation with respect to Germany's food question can quickly change for the worse. Furthermore, like us in fact to some extent, much of the corn the Axis can get must be turned into alcohol for industrial purposes.

In spite of recent bad news from the west fronts, and more may come before the pendulum swings in our favor, I have no fear of the ultimate outcome. Starvation is a killing process, but is also a toughening agent. The weak will succumb first but those who manage to survive in occupied countries will be a powerful factor in revolt against Germany. They already look to the United States, not only for the liberation of their freedom, but for their stomachs' sake.

U. S. Supplies

Total 1942 wheat production is estimated at 868 million bushels. With an anticipated carry-over of 630 million bushels, we should have a supply, provided the weather is with us, of about 1,500 million bushels. This chafes up a new record and will provide the greatest single source of supply the world has ever known. Domestic consumption will take something less than half, say around 700 million bushels for food purpose. The only hope of the wheat farmer lies with making alcohol and other industrial products.

Much depends upon the duration of the armistice. Peace in itself may not come with the ending of physical hostilities. There may be a long armistice of from two to five years. During this period our wheat supply will come in handy when we are trading around the peace table. If fighting is over within a year, we can expect a drop of at least 50 per cent in our supply of wheat holdings. If the war continues longer, we shall have sufficient acreage to grow an even larger crop. In fact, in view of the immense yield this year, Washington is not increasing the 1943 allotment. Farmers are asked to grow other crops where possible.

What About Farmers?

Certainly, farmers are sitting pretty. They always face uncertain weather so that item can be discounted. This year farm labor will be a problem, but I expect it will be taken care of. In a real pinch, troops can be detailed to get the crops in. The great patron of the farmer is, of course, the Farm Bloc. Although they, to date, have gotten everything they wanted, yet they are still seeking both larger crops and higher prices. I am told they will get them; but if they do, the greater the crash will be some time in the future. Any present bea-ush factors are discounted by government subsidy, storage allotments and parity program.

Unless the boll weevil goes on the rampage there should be an excess of cotton which is already selling at $10, a bale less than earlier in the year. Corn is down more than 7 per cent from its 1942 peak; oats are down about 18 per cent; rye, 32 per cent; butter, 7 per cent; eggs, 16 per cent. This general farm products price trend has been leveling out for several months. Farmers and the government can control production but cannot control prices. It now looks as if the artificial stimulant in the form of parity loans has spent its force. The whole farm program has been running too wild. Even corn stored on farms exceeds a billion bushels, or 55 per cent above the 10-year average for this date. Hog slaughtering, dairy products, and eggs exceed all records. For instance, milk production this year will be around 56 billion quarts compared with the previous 5-year average of 49 billion; while creamy butter stocks on hand are nearly 40 million pounds compared with 18 million a year ago.

Summing up, it can be said that politics now dominate the crop markets. For both the trader and the farmer, however, the outlook is temporarily promising. Furthermore, the importance to our war and peace program of our grain harvest and carry-overs cannot be over-emphasized. Farm communities, including banks, newspapers, and retail establishments, as well as the mail-order chains, should all benefit along with the farmer. Remember, however, that what goes up must come down. Thus, farmers, now approaching the peak of their prosperity, should lay aside funds for the inevitable rainy day. Now is the time to get out of debt if you owe money. Otherwise, spend more on maintenance and improvements which will enable you to cut expenses to the bone when your honeymoon is over.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

The other day while in the vicinity of the West Shore railroad station I strolled over to what was the former Colonial Subway of the old trolley road. The Dederick street entrance to the subway is now choked with trees and brush, while the other entrance on Thomas street was filled in some years ago.

I also found that the passenger entrance to the tunnel adjoining the railroad station has been chained off and is in a state of decay, and was reminded of the years when there was great agitation for the abolishment of the West Shore railroad crossing.

In those years there was a demand that all trolley cars use the subway instead of the Broadway tracks at the crossing, and when the trolley line was abandoned and busses substituted the question arose of using the subway for vehicle traffic, but nothing ever came of the suggestion.

Older readers will recall the days when the subway was in daily use by the Colonial Line of the trolley road, and as they stood on the subway platform underground waiting for the trolley car they were reminded of the subway stations in New York city, although the city subway had no ticket booths and consisted only of a concrete platform that extended for some distance.

This subway was handy for the passengers on the railroad for after leaving the train they walked down the stairs to the subway platform. And speaking of the subway I recall that at the turn of the century there was an extension of the trolley line from Broadway to the railroad station. This extension boasted one trolley car which ran back and forth from the railroad station to Broadway.

The tracks for this extension were taken up years ago and today on the site is a parking ground for automobiles.

Among the old time trolley men who may recall the extension line are former Alderman John McGrane of Andrew street and Fred Lemister of Hasbrouck avenue. If memory serves me a photo of this extension line can be found in one of the books devoted to Kingston in Picturesque Ulster.

Woolen Armor Urged

Woolen armor plate for military aircraft is under consideration in Australia as a result of a suggestion advanced by N. C. Bucknell, a Melbourne engineer. Pointing out that a bullet cannot penetrate a bale of wool to the depths of more than an inch and a half, Mr. Bucknell suggested that layers of wool placed between sheets of metal in the fuselage of an airplane should make the craft bullet-proof.

Ingersoll Case Has Unfortunate Turn in That His Opponents Call Him Draft Dodger

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 10.—The case of Ralph Ingersoll, editor of a radical newspaper, who has been classified as 1-A in the draft but whose employer, the wealthy Marshall Field, has formally asked for a deferment for him on the ground that the editor is indispensable to the publication, has taken an unfortunate turn.

Mr. Ingersoll's views and those of his publication have become the subject of controversy, and certain publications which have disagreed with him sharply are now accusing him of being a "draft dodger." This is a conspicuous instance of how the Selective Service law can be misrepresented and the individuals drafted thereunder subjected to grave injustice.

Mr. Ingersoll has been unfairly treated by his opponents, and the facts of his case have not been properly presented to the public. Himself did not assist the matter by accusing the local draft board of prejudice. For the Ingersoll case is really no different from that of any other that is being considered by hundreds of draft boards every day.

The issue of whether an employee is or is not indispensable is one that does not primarily concern the registrant or his opinions. He cannot be deferred on his own. His employer claims deferment and must make the case proving indispensability. The registrant may be asked pertinent questions concerning his work but the final decision made by a local draft board turns on whether the employer makes out a persuasive case. If the decision goes against the employer he has the right of appeal to the administrative boards above the local board and so on through the machinery of the draft board to the President of the United States.

What is meant by "indispensable"? The rules or instructions given to local draft boards state that the employer must prove that he has tried to replace the employee or that the nature of the work done makes the employee irreplaceable. In some instances employers have frankly said they would have to abandon the particular unit or business if the employee were not deferred. But the test, after all, is whether a substitute can be found. In the case of an editor who directs a publication and makes its policies, an individual with a particular flair for the expression of a particular point of view, it would not seem difficult to make out a simple case of irreplaceability.

The fact that the publication may be disliked by many citizens in the community or that it may have itself dispensed considerable injustice in its attacks such as, for instance, this correspondent has from time to time experienced at the hands of Mr. Ingersoll's paper, has absolutely nothing to do with the matter. Mr. Ingersoll's radical publication is entitled to be considered as just as essential to the morale building of the nation in wartime as any other newspaper, and it is being conceded that the press is an essential means of communication between the government and the people in wartime and in the upbuilding of morale generally.

Any key employee on one essential enterprise has as much right as the key employee of any other business to objective consideration by the draft boards. Personal or political or economic or social views cannot properly have anything to do with it. The claim by some of Mr. Ingersoll's defenders that the local draft board was influenced to consider his radical views has not been proved and in all probability is unfounded, because the case has not yet been decided, as it ultimately must be, on the basis of testimony offered by Marshall Field himself, who also can tell of the nature of the work done and the impossibility of finding another person with exactly Mr. Ingersoll's flair for radicalism.

Much is being made by the critics of the fact that Mr. Ingersoll was an avowed interventionist before the United States entered the war and that now he would be withheld from the army by his employer. This is as irrelevant as the fact that Mr. Ingersoll is 41 years old and served in the last war. The only thing that matters is whether Mr. Ingersoll is or is not irreplaceable, and on that point the local board or the appeals board doubtless will ask testimony from Mr. Field.

Literary Guide

By JOHN SELBY

"A NEW RUSSIAN GRAMMAR" and "A FIRST RUSSIAN READER," by Anna H. Semenovoff; "COLLOQUIAL JAPANESE," by WILLIAM Montgomery McGovern.

Bismarck is said to have sneered one day that a talent for languages is a head waiter's talent. Whether because of that strange remark (comparable to "history is bunk" in the sublimity of its ignorance) or because of laziness, many people believe Americans are the worst linguists in the world. Perhaps we are.

It may be a little late for us to take up either Russian or Japanese, but if we want to try, the means are at hand. Three books of value have been re-issued in the light of Pearl Harbor.

For Russian books—Anna H. Semenovoff's "A New Russian Grammar" and the same teacher's "A First Russian Reader." The last is not really a re-issue. My review copy is from the first American edition and it was published in 1936. The grammar is the fourth edition published in this country.

The third book is William Montgomery McGovern's "Colloquial Japanese," and it is subtitled "A quick, easy way to learn Japanese." This grammar begins by insisting that Japanese is not really very hard—that, indeed, a fair student can get through the book and emerge with a workable command of Japanese in six months. Both grammars are designed for independent study as well as classroom work, and a brief survey indicates that this is not merely wishful thinking. But one day's experience is not enough for me to be sure!

For the amateur, the odd character of both Russian and Japanese are forbidding. In Japanese there is a good deal of reason for fright, too, because actually there are a number of Japanese languages. The colloquial style of Japanese is the ordinary medium of exchange. The epistolary style is used for letters and post cards. There is a literary style for books and periodicals (about two-thirds Chinese and one-third Japanese). And finally there is the classical style which is actually Chinese, based on the Confucian Canon. In addition, Japanese may be written in either the ideographic or phonetic way and there are three ways of writing phonetically.

Russian has its peculiar alphabet and distinctive orthography, but it at least stays put. Perhaps it would be better to start on Russian—

300 LOSE FREEDOM

Abuse of a provision for "conditional liberty" for prisoners in Santiago, Chile, has resulted in the Government's decision to cancel special privileges for 300 persons and return them to their confinement in prisons. The action followed an increase in crime and an investigation which showed many paroled prisoners were engaged in the pursuits which had led to their arrests.

Washington in Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — The Capital in Wartime:

How-times-have-changed note—Senator McNary, minority leader of the Senate, protesting against immediate vote without prolonged debate, of the $43,000,000 Army appropriation bill:

"I recall the argument made here by a very dear friend of all of us, now gone, the late Senator (Fat) Harrison, when he stated on the floor that we could not pass the $45,000,000 (debt) limit without impairment and dislocation of our economic structure. I recall the very distinguished and able conservator of public funds and resources and credit, the distinguished senator from Virginia (Mr. Byrd) pleading over and over again that our appropriations NOT go beyond 50 or 60 billion dollars. But now, one fell swoop the Senate is asked to pass a bill appropriating $43,000,000 without reading it, without knowing anything about it. . . .

"In the name of decency, out of respect to orderly procedure, we should have at least one day to consider a bill proposing to appropriate $43,000,000. . . . So the senators were given 24 hours to peruse the bill and the 93-page report on its various phases—the largest appropriation ever considered by the United States—and according to Senator McNary, "quite a bit larger than ALL the expenses of the last war, 25 years ago."

For the first time in history, one of our insular possessions, Puerto Rico—has hired a "public relations counsel." He is John Lear, former Associated Press correspondent who for more than two years has been concentrating on the Latin American scene.

Lear is now a government employee, his position and salary stipulated in the budget of the governor of Puerto Rico, that well known New Dealer of depression days, Rexford Guy Tugwell.

John certainly has his work cut out for him. Few weeks pass when Bolivar Pagan, the P. R. resident commissioner, or some one else doesn't write into the Congressional Record an essay on the general theme, "why the people of Puerto Rico don't want Tugwell for governor."

The political situation in our "Gibraltar of the Caribbean" is quite a mess. If it straightens out, you can bet on it that Alaska, Hawaii and the Philippines will also be asking for "public relations counsels."

The taxi drivers of Washington are almost as famous as the Monument. You'll get their life histories, political opinions, and comments of the day quicker than you can pass a zone line. They may be anything from Harvard graduates to pre-repeal run-runners, and in either instance, proud of it.

Tops on the dumb side of the ledger came the other day from the slightly blank-looking hack driver who went white when he saw the headlines of a newspaper his customer had just purchased. "What," he screamed, "the nazi are 60 miles from Alexandria. I gotta get home. Alexandria's (Va.) where I live."

State Educator Praises Newspapers As Vital to Good Marks for Students

ported, "on the whole did very well—probably better than many adults would have fared."

Seventh grade geography students were asked, for instance, why the war has increased co-operation with South America, the distance from San Francisco to Hawaii, and the best substitutes for silk.

Eighth grade mathematics scratched heads over:

"How many pursuit planes costing $10,000,000 each could be bought, if each of the 13,000,000 school children in the country bought one ten-cent war stamp per week for a year?"

One history paper questioned students on rationing, the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, symbolism of the American flag, and the purposes of civilian defense activities. Van Kleeck termed all the tests "good self-checks" for parents.

He wondered, chuckling, how many fathers were "up to it" when high school seniors went home last month, after the history exam, and asked:

"Pa, what are the provisions of the Atlantic Charter?"

Various Brokers Doubt Inflation's Control Will Hold

employment in all manufacturing industries is up about 40 per cent over the 1935-39 average. The bureau's statistics on hourly wage rates in manufacturing industries, last issued for April, show an increase of about 35 per cent over the 1935-39 average.

What Washington controllers are trying to prevent is what happened in World War I, when the cost of living doubled between 1915 and 1920. Hourly wage rates of factory workers, on the average, did the same thing, but persons on fixed income were cruelly pinched, and a sharp slump came in 1921. Many economists believe a situation of unbalance was engendered, which contributed to the severe depression of the 1930's.

Conditions Among Men, Girls Are Criticized

Boston, July 10 (AP)—Historic Boston Common has been declared "out of bounds" after 10 p. m. to men in uniform and 'teen-age girls in a move to eliminate conditions described by John J. Walsh, the city's civilian defense director, as deplorable.

Police, civil and military, and the navy shore patrols last night ordered approximately 500 sailors, soldiers and marines, many accompanied by young women, to leave the spacious greensward.

The police took nine girls under 17 years old into custody and notified their parents to call for them.

Prior to the "curfew," Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty had conferred with Governor Leverett Saltonstall.

Timilty earlier this week refused a request of Director Walsh to turn the names of delinquent girls over to the safety committee so that social service workers could be sent to their homes. The commissioner contended that the girl problem was one to be handled by the home, police and courts.

Organist Must Die In Parents' Slaying

Courtney F. Rogers Hears Verdict Passed by Jury in Los Angeles

Los Angeles, July 10 (AP)—Courtney F. Rogers, slim young church organist, is sane, and must die for murdering his father and mother.

Three prosecution alienists had pronounced him sane; three defense experts had termed him a dangerous maniac.

Judge Clement D. Nye pronounced death sentences on both counts yesterday immediately after the jury of 10 women and two men had returned its verdict that the youth was sane. He did not set the date that Rogers must die in San Quentin prison's lethal chamber.

Rogers, 24, was convicted of chloroforming his mother, Lilly, 46, Feb. 10, 1941, and of asphyxiating his father, Courtney C., 54, by firing their home Oct. 25, 1941.

Pertinent Facts On Conscription

Selective Service has two questionnaires either one of which may be received by the registrants before the other, Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, New York State Director of Selective Service, said today.

The Selective Service Occupational (DSS Form 311) is sent to all registrants who have not been inducted in order to obtain their record of occupational skills. This form may be sent before classification. It does not affect the registrant's classification.

Selective Service Questionnaire (DSS Form 40) is an eight-page pamphlet the answers on which are the basis of the registrant's classification. General Brown stated that regulations require every classification to be based upon a written record and any evidence that affects the registrant's classification must be reduced to writing and contained in the registrant's file.

The information required of the registrant on the questionnaire is divided into groups as follows:

1. Identification.
2. Physical condition (this information is confidential as to persons other than the registrant and officers and employees of the Selective Service System).

3. Education.
4. Present occupation or activity (confidential as to amount of earnings).
5. Agricultural occupations.
6. Occupational experience, qualifications, and preferences.
7. Family status and dependents (confidential except as to names and addresses of claimed dependents).
8. Minister or student preparing for the ministry.
9. Citizenship.
10. Conscientious objection to war.
11. Court record (confidential).
12. Military service (confidential).
13. Present members of armed forces, certain officials, etc.

There is also a place where the registrant may indicate the classification to which he thinks he is entitled; also to make an appeal; and his affidavit.

It is immaterial which questionnaire the registrant receives first. Classification cannot be determined, however, until Form 40 is filled out and returned to the local board. Registrants of the Fourth Registration (45 to 64 years, inclusive) are not classified and will receive only Form 311, the occupational questionnaire.

Enthusiasm

Enthusiasm is the live wire of commerce, the force that compels and dominates the magnet of success.

Some people stamp their personality indelibly upon you at first glance; others create no impression whatever, memory cannot recall them; they are negative, colorless, uninteresting.

Analyze that mysterious force known as personal magnetism; study the leaders of any great cause, the prominent business man, the successful salesman, people of character and energy, and you will find that, without exception, the source of their power is enthusiasm.

Cultivate enthusiasm and life becomes brighter and character stronger. The world is painted in brilliant colors for enthusiastic eyes.

Take more than a passing interest in the things that are and endeavoring to follow. Knowledge is power but it is dormant without the vital part of enthusiasm.

Begin today, be keen. Work becomes fascinating when tackled with enthusiasm. Even the most obdurate buyer cannot long withstand the enthusiastic salesman. Enthusiasm is just as necessary in one business as another.

A man on trial for his life was being examined by a group of alienists. Suddenly one doctor jumped and shouted to him:

Doctor—Quick, how many feet has a centipede?

Man (in a dry, dry voice)—Gad, is that all you have to worry about?

The poorest way to get even with anyone is to sink to their level.

Young Wife (proudly)—Yes, father always gave something expensive when he makes presents.

Young Husband—So I discovered when he gave you away.

An out of town feminine visitor came here recently to make an impression. She attracts no more attention than a thermometer after the arrival of a cold wave.

Rastus—My girl's divine.

Ephraim—Your gal may be de vine, but my gal's de berries.

Counsel (cross-examining a farmer)—Now, don't quibble! Do you understand a simple problem or not?

Witness—I do.

Counsel—Then tell the court this: If 15 men plowed a field in 5 hours, how long would it take 30 men to plow the same field?

Witness—They couldn't do it.

Counsel—Why not?

Witness—Because the 15 men have already plowed it.

IDEAS . . . Ideas are funny little things. . . They won't work unless you do. . . You may have a head full of notions, and some of them may be good one. . . But they are useless as such. . . Ideas translated into action count, and this means both dreaming and working.

Former Lorillard Building Deeded To Defense Plant

Ownership of the former Lorillard Refrigerator plant on Grand street adjoining the Electrol, Inc., plant changed hands Thursday afternoon when a deed was filed transferring title from Jelico Realty, Inc., to the Defense Plant Corp.

Announcement of the transfer was made some time ago when Electrol announced that in an expansion program it was to take over the building which had been under lease by the Pilgrim Furniture Co. Electrol, with large contracts for the U. S. Navy, will now take over the entire plant for its work and when machinery has been installed will employ a large number of men in the new plant.

Because of the need of additional space the lease of Pilgrim Furniture Co., which has occupied the former refrigerator plant for several years, was bought and Pilgrim has moved a part of its plant to the former Van Kleeck garage building on North Front street. Electrol takes over the additional space from the Defense Plant Corp. Work of remodeling the plant and installing machines will be rushed to completion in order that production may start as soon as possible.

N. LeVan Haver represented the Jelico Realty Co. in the transaction. The consideration paid was not specified in the deed but there were revenue stamps attached which indicated a purchase price of $50,000.

Final Canvass For Scrap Rubber

Committee Issues Appeal for Available Scrap

The Kingston City Salvage Committee has issued an urgent appeal to the local citizens to make a final canvass through their homes, factories, and offices for scrap rubber.

The national drive ends at midnight and according to George Goodfellow, chairman of the Kingston committee there is still quite a bit of scrap rubber lying idly around Kingston.

The committee has received numerous reports from citizens giving information where large piles of scrap rubber are available. In one instance one local citizen had a ton of rubber on his property, using the excuse that he was too busy to move it. If any citizen knows of additional scrap rubber available, he is urged to call 1100 and give the name and address of the location of the scrap rubber, and the committee will assign someone to collect it.

All citizens are urged to take their remaining scrap rubber to their nearest gasoline station today.

In spite of the restrictions on overseas travel, many civilians in New Zealand are applying for government permits to go abroad.

Norris Would Cut Off Axis Horns

Says That Would Be Best Way to Gentle Them

Washington, July 10 (AP)—There's just one present that Senator George W. Norris would like for his 81st birthday tomorrow—a hand in drafting a peace treaty that not only would take the Axis bull by the horns but "cut 'em right off."

Aside from that hoped-for gift which he believes he'll never get, the white-tailed Nebraska Independent whose 39 years in Congress represent the longest service of any member, would like to forget that another birthday has rolled around.

"I guess I'm a good deal like a young woman about my age," he confessed. "I'm getting well along in years now. There probably won't be so very many more."

So Norris planned to spend the day like many another—confering with colleagues, meeting visitors, dictating correspondence, and even discussing his idea of terms for a peace that would last.

The battling insurgent of more than a quarter of a century ago when he held an angry Senate in session for two days and two nights to help defeat President Wilson's request for authority to arm American merchant vessels against German raiders, doesn't want peace yet.

"Not until it's an unconditional surrender of the Axis," he said. "There must be no appeasement, no compromise. Then we must cut off their horns."

For illustration, Norris cited the case of his Jersey cow, "the most beautiful kindly animal you ever saw."

"Then she started to get cross," he said, "and we had to keep the children away from her. Finally I decided to have her horns cut off so if that would help. I hated to do it because it caused her a lot of pain."

"Well, sir, you should have seen the difference. Without her horns she became the kindest cow she was before. The children played around her and she loved it."

"And that's what we've got to do with Germany, Japan and Italy—cut off their horns. There must be absolute disarmament."

"And then," he added, "these nations, no matter how much we hate them now, must be treated as economic equals. That was the failure of the last peace. It sowed the seeds of the present war."

Railroaders Help Farmers
Sedalia, Mo., July 10 (AP)—Eleven husky railroad shop workers finished their night-shift jobs, then dropped in at the farm of Emmett Bohon and shocked 35 acres of oats before noon.

They refused to take pay from the surprised Bohon, and said all 1,000 Missouri Pacific shop employees have volunteered to help short-handed farmers of the community during harvest season.

One Hefty Team Takes Job of Loading Shells as Naturally as That of Canning Peaches

Aberdeen, Md., July 10 (AP)—A three-woman team, combined weight 681 pounds, sing as they load 65-pound shells used in testing ammunition and big guns for the army.

The trio are pals, self-described as the merriest group at work at the Aberdeen proving ground which in the last 90 days has added several hundred women to test war materials. The male civilian corps is being reduced by the draft.

There was sound of hefty song as an unannounced inspection group approached a powder house which they hold down.

"Hm-m-m company," announced Mrs. Elizabeth Jones of Baltimore, (225-230 pounds) to her teammates, Mrs. Florence Wockenuss, also of Baltimore, (231 pounds) and Mrs. Viola Testerman of Pikesville, Md., (225 pounds).

But company, which included several army officers in charge, didn't ruffle Mrs. Jones' happy-go-lucky poise. She sat at a wooden desk beside a neat square of loaded shells each standing nearly two feet high.

Even big as she was—and Mrs. Jones was big and jolly in a dark blue playsuit—how could she handle those big shells? "What—this? easy," said Mrs. Jones. She reached around and picked up one as casually as a lesser woman would hoist two pounds of butter.

Civilian visitors felt a lot more comfortable when she lightly put it down with the same care a mother would settle a baby in his crib. To the army these three represent the "unsung heroines" behind the men behind the guns.

Army officials, convinced of the "surprising ability" of women, not only to load shells but to fire the anti-aircraft and big guns in tests, are now disclosing that the gentle sex is proving very mechanical minded.

One 18-year-old girl in a machine shop here learned in a day to handle a 15-ton crane. This usually takes a man a week. Other women work in the laboratories, some on very advanced ballistics problems. To women here, these jobs are as simple as canning peaches.

SEATING PERSONS IN CARS IN A FUNERAL PROCESSION

The seating of persons in the cars in a funeral procession is always in order of nearness of relationship: the oldest sons and daughters with the mother or the father; the sons-in-law and daughters-in-law in other cars, aunts and uncles and nieces and nephews in others. This answers the question of a reader.

In addition to this, I should like to add that consideration of the particular sympathies and temperament of the members of the immediate family is always important—particularly in a case where the sorrow to the most deeply bereaved is overwhelming. The widowed mother, for example, may be very nervous, and one of her children may also be very nervous, and much as they may love each other, it might be better to have calmer members of the family look after both of them, than unobsequiously to let each add to the intensity of the other's strain.

Visit From Members of New Church

Dear Mrs. Post: After a very long time of waiting, three of the ladies in church called on me one afternoon. I was at home; they stayed half an hour or perhaps a little longer; I served tea and the visit was to me very enjoyable. They each left a card, on the bottom of which had been written—St. John's Visiting Committee.

I don't know whether I am to regard their visits in the light of church business or if I am to return each visit. Will you tell me what I ought to do? Two of the ladies are socially prominent in this town and I don't wish to be misunderstood as trying to push it. Answer: The St. John's Visiting Committee written on the card is very puzzling—unless they talk of the work of their committee and in some way asked your help. If they did this, then you should have accepted or regretted, and not now pay any visits. On the other hand, if they made typically social conversation, then it certainly would be proper to leave your cards at their houses. Even so, it might perhaps be safest before returning their visits, to ask one of the church members who is both wise and kind, how these three words written on their personal visiting cards, are to be taken.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "OUTDOOR SUMMER MANNERS." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y. Leaflets cannot be mailed unless self-addressed envelope bears correct amount of postage. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Charge Payments Are Due, or Else

Purchases Made Prior to June 1 Fall Under Federal Restriction

Washington, July 10 (AP)—Today's the day you are supposed to pay for most merchandise bought on retail charge accounts before June 1. Unless you pay up, or sign a written agreement to make regular payments later, your account may be frozen.

It is the first deadline under the May 6 order of the federal reserve board on charge accounts, which must be met by "the tenth day of the second month after the purchase." Thus the deadline for goods bought last month is August 10, and the deadline for articles purchased this month will be September 10.

The ruling does not apply to things bought on the installment plan, for which the board has a set of separate regulations. Neither does it apply to grocery stores, laundries, or doctor bills.

Primarily it applies to the ordinary "charge account" in a department, furniture, clothing, music, jewelry, appliance or automobile store or agency.

Port Washington Uses Mass Production on Posters

Port Washington, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—American mass-production methods have reached the world of art to turn out war posters via an assembly line like that developed by the automobile industry.

The original posters were drawn by 16 noted artists to aid this village's home defense work, and the production line is a group of high school art students.

Each does one job—and no more—on one section of each poster.

At table one, the first student traces the original, table two student sketches the tracing, table three puts in flesh tints, four the red, and so on through the colors. Finally, there is a background bench and a horizon bench. The results of this method have surpassed expectations in quality.

The youngsters, having only one part to imitate, develop a lot of skill. An assembly line of six or eight art students produces a dozen posters in about three hours.

In this way, on a volunteer basis, Port Washington is producing several hundred posters, which, if the artists charged for their work, and added the usual copying expense, would cost thousands of dollars.

Many new sources of fibers are being developed, including milk, soybeans, peanuts, corn, fish, yucca, redwood bark and glass.

Not how much, but how little they can use their trucks is the problem the war has forced upon farmers. The need to save tires and trucks is urgent, say agricultural leaders.

Need Continued Food Supplies

Danger to Nation in Too-Low Price Ceiling

Ithaca, N. Y. — From the standpoint of national welfare, ceilings for farm prices should not be fixed at levels that will result in less than full production of all essential foods, in the opinion of Dr. F. A. Pearson and Dr. W. I. Myers of the agricultural economics department at Cornell University.

Continuation of an adequate food supply is just as important as abundant supplies of tanks and airplanes, they say, and explain:

"An adequate food supply is the result of two unknown variables, the weather and the efforts of farmers. Farmers can not control the weather, but they can direct their efforts according to prices, the criterion by which they judge whether society wants food or other products.

"If farm prices are too low to permit paying farm labor good wages, farm labor shifts to other occupations. That is happening today. Farm incomes should provide equality of opportunity for farm people."

The Cornell farm economists, in referring to the recent legislation setting the ceiling prices of farm products at 110 per cent of parity, point out the criticism this has drawn in the cities. The objection is that farm prices should not be allowed to go above parity.

"What the city critics fail to realize," they say, "is that food prices must permit farmers to retain the necessary labor now leaving the farms for high wages in city industries. Freezing of agriculture may jeopardize food supplies adequate for ourselves and our allies."

They recommend that the parity concept be modified to include farm wages as well as articles farmers buy. At present, farm wages are the only important farm cost not included.

"During the depression it made little difference whether parity was computed in terms of articles farmers buy, interest, taxes, or in terms of farm wages. Farm labor at that time had no alternative opportunities for work, and wages tended to conform to farm prices. Today there are all kinds of opportunities drawing labor away from the farms.

"To produce the food, we must have the labor. While unskilled school boys and farmerettes can help in seasonal peaks of harvesting, they do not solve the farm-labor problem. If a year-hired man or farm boy leaves a New York farm and can not be replaced, food production will be reduced."

Keep our boys tiptop by putting the U. S. O. drive over the top.

Dies Apologizes To D. B. Vaughan

Accused Him of Being Sponsor of American League for Peace

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Chairman Dies (D.-Tex.) of the House Committee Investigating un-American Activities, publicly apologized today for having accused David B. Vaughan, board of economic warfare executive, of being "a sponsor of the American League for Peace and Democracy."

The accusation, Dies said in a statement inserted in the Congressional Record, was made "in a letter written by me on March 28, 1942," to Vice-President Wallace, chairman of the B. E. W., and released to the press.

Dies said he would pay the attorney fees contracted by Vaughan "in the protection of his good name."

(Vaughan filed a $75,000 libel suit against Dies.)

"The records of our committee and the letterhead for the American League for Peace and Democracy, showed that a man by the name of David Vaughn (C.Q.) was a sponsor of the organization."

Dies' statement continued. "Upon investigation, however, we have definitely determined that the David Vaughn who sponsored the American League for Peace and Democracy is not the same person as Mr. David B. Vaughan, who was described in my letter to Chairman Wallace as head administrative officer of the board of economic warfare. The records of our office do not show that Mr. Vaughan, who is presently administrative officer and chief of the administrative management Bureau of the Board of Economic Warfare, has ever been affiliated directly or indirectly with the American League for Peace and Democracy or any other Communist or subversive organization."

"I deeply regret that this mistake was made and I am glad to retract it and to apologize to Mr. Vaughan for the error.

"In the last four years our committee has dealt with thousands of people. It was inevitable that some mistakes would be made."

"Insofar as Mr. Vaughan is concerned, it is needless to say that I have never known him. There has come to me, however, from the most reliable sources of information that he is a splendid outstanding citizen and a conscientious public servant. I, therefore, deeply and sincerely regret that through a mistake his good name was brought into question."

Invasion Will Be Terrific Maneuver

stand up under the punishment they will get.

Next would come the movement of troops. Where landings would be undertaken certainly is a matter of speculation. They might be made anywhere and the location would depend on circumstances.

The area which the Nazis have most carefully fortified is the Boulogne-Calais sector on the narrowest part of the English channel, only twenty miles away from the white cliffs of Dover. Probably numerous landings would be attempted simultaneously along the coastline, perhaps avoiding this strongly held Boulogne-Dover area until it could be outflanked.

Pioneers must go ahead to establish beach-heads, and what force could be better fitted for that work than the commandos, both British and Yankee? With them must go technicians and workers who will create facilities for the disembarking of the main invasion forces, prepare landing fields for warplanes, and what not. That will be a nasty job, in the face of fierce resistance by superior forces. That's where the combined Anglo-American air force will come in, for on the airman must fall largely the initial defense of the early landing forces.

With the establishment of beach-heads the main invasion forces would be rushed across the channel. Probably a million men, American and British, would be moved onto the continent in due course. As a guess, five thousand barges, maybe more, would be employed, each carrying fifty or so fully equipped soldiers. There also would be barges for tanks and artillery and other mechanical equipment.

The barges with their precious freight would proceed under a vast canopy of air power. They would be escorted by naval strength. These troops must be equipped to take care of themselves for several days, maybe a week, for apart from such mater-

'Jason' Pleases Elwyn Audience

Smart Play Is Well Given at Woodstock Theatre

Few performances at the Woodstock Playhouse drew better audience response than the Elwyn group's presentation of the Samson Raphaelson play "Jason" which opened last night and continues through to Sunday night.

The play has more smart, meaty lines than a convention of Broadway columnists and the author's idea certainly is one conducive to taking the play home for a second or third thought.

It digs deep into the life and soul of a dramatic critic and finally gives him the status of a human being, thereby establishing more than a little sympathetic understanding among human beings out in the audience.

Honors of the night were shared almost equally between Michael Whalen as Jason and Johnny Heath who is a young man whacky enough to be interested in plays and here the actor and the part seem to have grown up together.

Whalen as the guest star hits upon some high moments of drama, of which the play gives many, and he along with young Heath toss out some lines worth keeping for future reference. Joen Arliss as Lisa Otis, wife of Jason builds up a dramatic situation climaxed with lines by Jason which are the ultimate in his career.

The set again drew a hand from the audience at the opening and it is a credit to its designer, Lisa Jalowetz. The performance was a benefit for the U. S. O.

Half Billion Pounds of Metal in Obsolete Pianos

America has a hidden stockpile of more than half a billion pounds of metal in its obsolete pianos, Harry Kaprelian of the Charles Ramsey Corp. asserted today. He urged music dealers and home owners to cooperate with salvage organization in making this tremendous metal reserve available for war production.

"According to a recent survey, there are more than 2,800,000 pianos in this country that are over 20 years old and may be obsolete because of style or tone," he said. "Most of these pianos are stored in basements or attics and are dust-gathering eyesores. Scrapping them in the interest of victory would mean little sacrifice on the part of the owners."

A modern piano, he disclosed, contains an average of 160 pounds of cast iron, 3.6 pounds of brass, 5.5 pounds of copper wire and 40 pounds of steel. The over-age piano is a much bulkier affair and would yield considerably more metal.

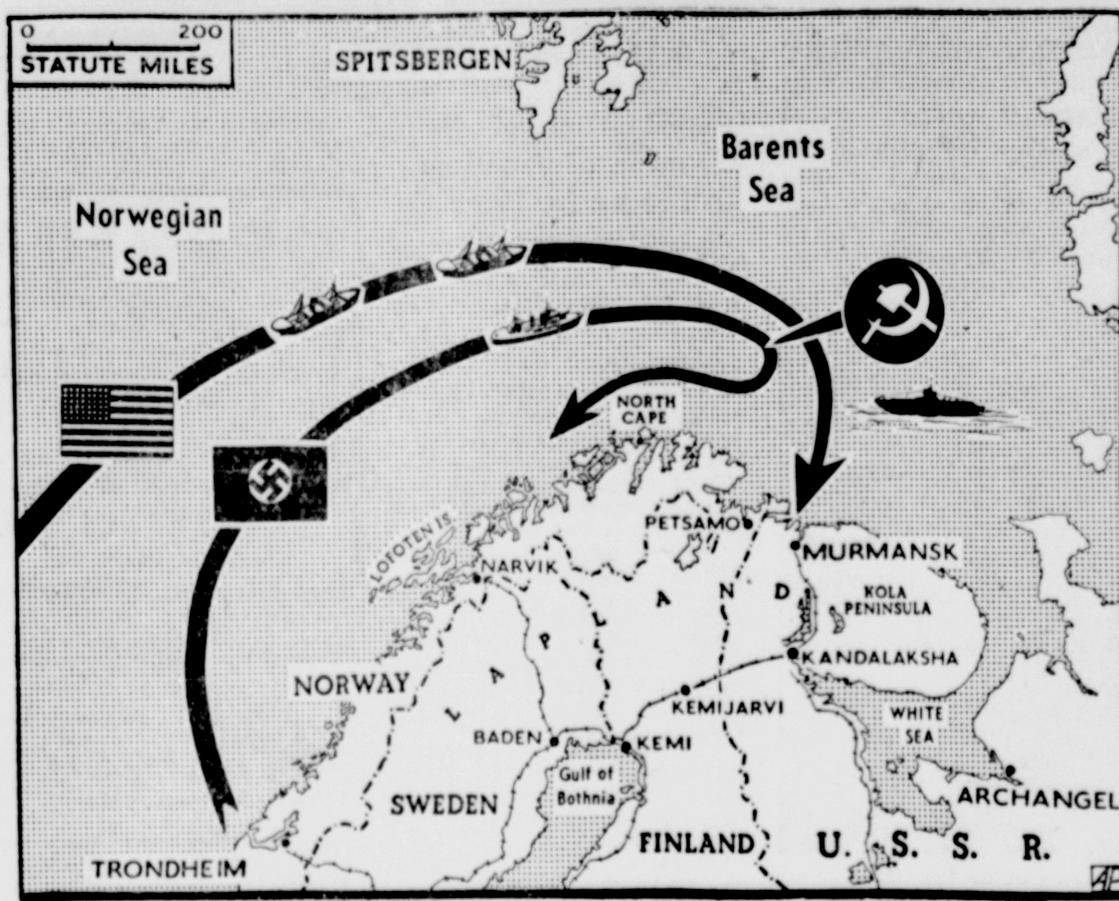

Estimated conservatively, the nation's 2,800,000 obsolete pianos contain the following metals: 10,080,000 pounds of brass; 15,400,000 pounds of copper wire; 112,000,000 pounds of steel and 428,000,000 pounds of cast iron. In addition, they hold a potential yield of 6,000,000 pounds of felt and millions of feet of high grade lumber. Player pianos also are a source of considerable rubber tubing.

Owners of ancient or unused pianos are urged to get in touch with their local salvage headquarters.

RUSSIAN SUB TORPEDOES TIRPITZ

Map indicates how the German battleship Tirpitz was caught by a Russian submarine and damaged by torpedoes, according to Tass, Soviet news agency. Tass said the Tirpitz, previously reported at Trondheim, was attacking a convoy from the United States and Britain near its destination, Murmansk, when torpedoed.

as is carried on the barges, the main supplies are yet to be moved. Only after the troops have established themselves and prepared airfields for Allied planes, can the armada of supply ships be started for the continent. The battle for airfields will be

While all this is going on, the people of the occupied countries presumably will have risen and be striking at the Germans in every way they can. Some arms will be provided for them by the invading allies.

That's a pretty sketchy outline, but it's all we have room for. It isn't necessary to emphasize that it will be a titanic fight in which many men must die on land, on sea and in the air. The coastline and channel will be a blazing hell.

Use Blueprints to Help Buyers of New 'Suites'

If you catch your favorite furniture merchant pouring over blueprints, it doesn't mean that he has turned architect. He's simply studying the various combinations which may be formed by using two or more of the pieces in his latest shipment of furniture.

The old idea of a "suite" (and in the furniture business, it is pronounced "soot," not "sweet") of a specified number of pieces simply doesn't fit the modern, sectional furniture now widely available all over the country. For the bedroom, for example, you aren't shown the traditional chest, dresser or vanity, bed and perhaps a night table. You're shown an intricate collection of drawers, tables, desks . . . and you can put them together to suit your own special needs, side by side or on top of each other.

There's No Limit
Perhaps you hanker after a lot of storage space. Then you simply line up a whole series of chests along one wall. One may be a desk unit, if you wish. Perhaps a vanity may fit into the center. In any event, the units will fit flush with each other, producing a continuous, sweeping line.

One new group of furniture of this kind contains from 100 to 125 basic pieces, for every room in the house . . . and the number of possible combinations approaches astronomical proportions, for some pieces may be suitable for living room, bedroom or even dining room. This manufacturer supplies his dealers with blueprints, showing how the furniture may be used in large rooms, small rooms, odd-shaped rooms or even in halls.

"Tailored" to Order
Customers are urged to consider their own requirements for sleeping, eating, reading, entertaining, storage, etc., and to buy accordingly. This particular group is made in only one wood—walnut—but there are six finishes which may be matched or mixed; black walnut, glazed walnut, chili, barro, aged and gray. The last two are different, for furniture, unlike humans, doesn't necessarily become gray when aged.

To avoid over-indulgence in straight lines—a common pitfall for furniture designed to be used in this way—some contrast is provided by accent tables with flowing lines.

It's only fair to ask: What can YOU give to make their life easier, their job more bearable; how can you back them

Pea Production
Now at a Peak

Good Quality Is Not Hard to Recognize

Ithaca, N. Y. — Home-grown peas are now on the market in most parts of the state. About 4,000 acres of peas are normally produced in central New York, and these are shipped to the metropolitan market and to upstate cities.

Good quality in peas is not hard to recognize, say food specialists at the New York State College of Home Economics. The pods of fresh, high quality peas are bright green and the peas or the pods but do not crowd or bulge them. A yellowish appearance indicates age or damage and such peas are generally tough and poor in flavor. Pods of immature peas are usually dark green in color and may have a flat wilted look.

Food specialists point out the following facts about peas: Few vegetables make as big a contribution to a meal as do fresh green peas. Their bright color, distinctive flavor, and nourishing qualities make them a valuable part of any diet. To obtain the best flavor, they should be cooked soon after harvesting.

If peas must be kept for any length of time before use, they should be left in the pod and kept in a cool place. Because shelled peas are more exposed to the air than peas in the pod, they tend to lose their vitamins more rapidly.

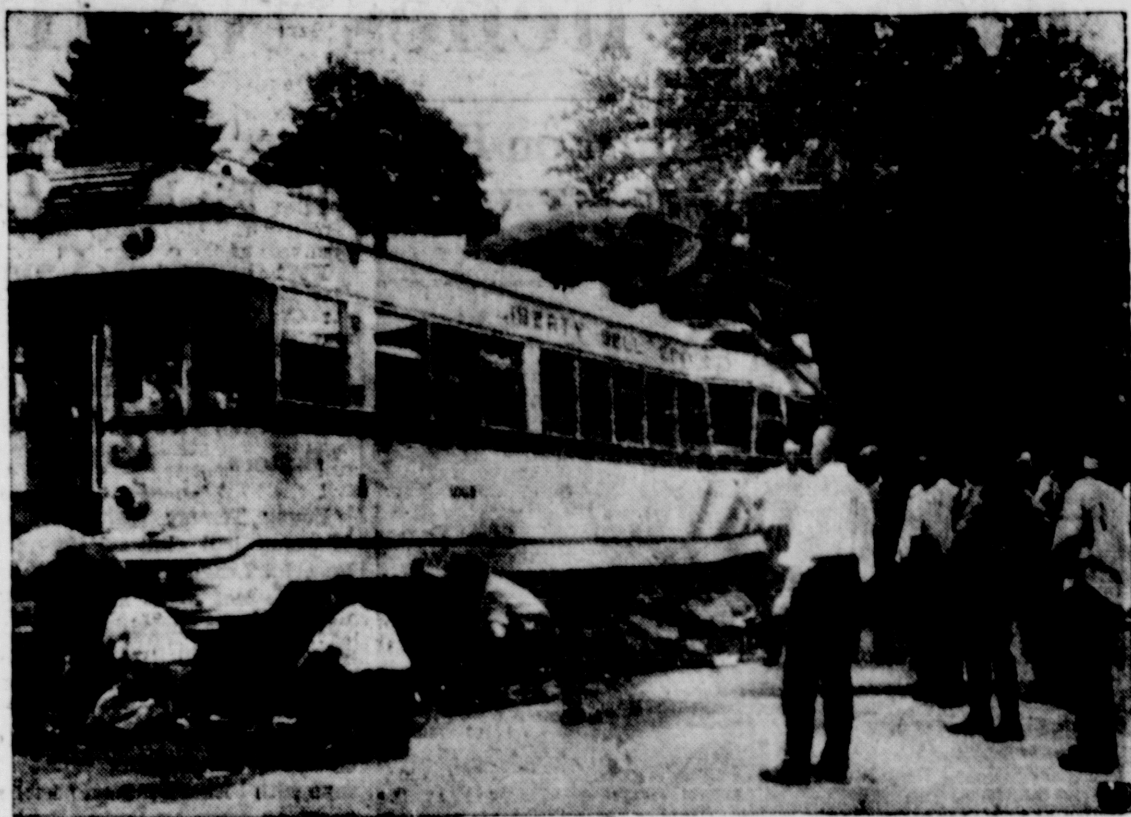

To retain the bright green color of peas during cooking, drop the shelled peas into a small amount of rapidly boiling water, allow them to boil uncovered for about three minutes, then cover and boil them gently until tender. It requires from ten to fifteen minutes.

Soda should never be used in cooking peas, or any other vegetables, for it destroys both texture and vitamins.

Six ways to save time and labor at haying time are explained in Cornell war emergency bulletin 25. Single copies are free to New York farmers, from the College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

Model Home Will Help War Workers

Reveals Efficiency, Beauty of New Furnishings

A government-designed warworkers' home was recently constructed in Chicago to provide an unusual and authentic setting for a new series of war-time "American-Trend" furniture.

The exhibition home was designed by the Public Buildings Administration in Washington, D. C., and carefully constructed to exact size and building specifications. Gilbert Stanley Underwood was the consulting architect. The home features an unique American cottage style of architecture with random board exterior construction and consists of four and one-half rooms. Little important details like the scalloped trim roof line, a plant shelf, and white farm fence add interest and charm to the entire display. The house is painted white, with the shutters and doors painted a deep, dusty red.

No Steel Used
This authentic warworkers' home was furnished with upholstered pieces of new "American Trend" designs, which are made without steel springs to eliminate vitally needed steel for the nation's war effort. Each piece is cleverly designed to follow the natural position of the body when relaxing, allowing the greatest amount of comfort. Only moss and cotton are used as filling materials.

After careful study the designers arrived at a near perfect scientific relation between the rake of the seat and the pitch of the back to afford an unusually comfortable sitting posture. A wide variety of styles and new fabrics are available in the upholstered living-room pieces.

Three different bedroom suites in lime oak, maple, and walnut are offered as a nice variety of popular finishes. There are two dining room groups in the series, with chest-buffets, drop-leaf tables, and extension junior-size tables. No ornamental metal hardware is used, only wood pulls and drawer grooves. The occasional wood living-room tables and book-cases are made of solid maple, finished in a new color, "sun-tan."

Rug Is Deep Green
In the living-room, a deep green two-tone rug is used with coral curtains. The dinette chair seats also are coral. The upholstered pieces are beige and turquoise. The dining room alcove may be shut off from the living-room with a natural monk's cloth drape, cleverly applied with figures of the living-room drapery material.

The drop-leaf table and two chairs in lime oak are used in the dining alcove, and the buffet-chest and two dinette chairs are used in the living-room.

In the large bedroom, twin beds, chest, vanity, night table, and chair are used. Here the light lime oak finish of the bedroom suite keeps the small room from seeming crowded. Blue chintz curtains, tan walls, and natural bedspreads complete the color scheme. The smaller of the two bedrooms is furnished with a full-sized bed vanity, and chest in warm maple.

The size of the living-room is 11 feet 4 inches by 16 feet 4 inches and the dining alcove 5 feet 8 inches by 6 feet 8 inches. The large bedroom with the twin beds is 10 feet 4 inches by 13 feet and the smaller bedroom is 9 feet 8 inches by 11 feet. The home also includes a modern bath, kitchen, and utility room for heating and laundry facilities. The government estimates the cost of the home to be $3,750 complete with plumbing and heating. The attractive furnishings in the home may be purchased for less than $900 complete.

Need a New Car? then-better get it!

Think things THROUGH on buying a new car! If you are Eligible under Newly Liberalized Rules It's Smart to BUY NOW! And here's why!

The Government wants us all to save gasoline.

The Government wants us to save rubber.

The Government also wants to make most efficient use of transportation facilities now available—including cars now built and ready for sale.

You do not help the country by continuing to "get along" on a car no longer fully efficient, safe or dependably able to serve you in any necessary use.

If you can qualify under latest rationing rules, you are recognized as an essential driver.

As such, you are not only entitled to your share of available gasoline and rubber, but are in reality expected to make the best use of them.

Your Buick dealer can show you that you can more efficiently do this in a brand-new, gas-thrifty, solidly dependable new 1942 Buick than in an older car which may have seen better days.

So before jumping at conclusions, get the whole story on new-car buying. Drop in on your Buick dealer for full details. He is at your service—any time.

Homesteads vs. Recs Tonight; Fisher Pitches No-Hit Game

Capacity House Is Expected to Watch Arc-light Contest

Bill Simmons Will Hurl for Recreations; Josh Gibson Will Be With Visitors

The second big arc-light baseball attraction of the week will be staged at the municipal stadium tonight at 9 o'clock when Josh Gibson's Homestead Grays engage the Kingston Recreations in a game which might even overshadow the hectic struggle between the Recs and the Black Yankees Wednesday night.

The Recreations plan to use Bill Simmons, the Springfield Grey hurler who was clubbed for a 6 to 1 loss by the Recs July 4. Simmons, however, has plenty on the ball and should be a good test for the Grays tonight. Bill Thomas and Don Hempe will be ready for any relief chores, if necessary.

Although no definite hurler has been named by the Homesteads, it is expected that either Ray Brown or Roy Partlow will get the assignment. Brown is a six foot right hander with a terrific fast ball. Brown also possesses a tricky knuckle ball in his deceptive assortment.

Brown, it is reported, throws from an angle, sidearm, underhand, overhand and also the cross fire pitch which has fooled many of the sluggers in the Negro National League for many seasons. Other hurlers on the staff include Partlow, J. C. Hamilton, Roy Weikner, Johnny Wright, Wilmer Fields, Ernie Carter and Grant Blair. Sounds like a major league pitching roster.

Greatest Negro Team

"The greatest Negro ball club in the present day," said a New York sports writer recently when the Homesteads were scheduled to play a regular Negro National League contest in Yankee Stadium in New York. That statement gives the public some idea on the strength of the Grays who have won the N. N. L. title for the past three seasons.

Of course, the biggest attraction of the Homesteads is the veteran Josh Gibson, the Negro Babe Ruth who has totaled many homers in his many years of competition. Gibson is credited with hitting more round-trippers than any other ball player except Ruth.

John McGraw, the late manager of the New York Giants of the National League, once remarked, "give me a battery of Satchel Paige and Josh Gibson, and I'll win the title any year you say."

That's quite a statement for the manager who selected his players with due care.

This will be the first appearance for the Homesteads in this city. Local officials have been trying for many years to bring the Grays in but each time the arrangements failed. Now, tonight at 9 o'clock, local baseball fans will see this outstanding Negro team. It's the second big negro attraction of the week and fans are assured of seeing some grand baseball tonight at the stadium when the Homesteads start their battle with Joe Hoffman's Recreations.

Leonard on First

While Josh Gibson holds most of the strength for the visitors, the club has another terrific batter in Buck Leonard, first baseman who has been picked for the past decade on the Eastern All Star Negro team. Leonard is a port-side swinger which should mean that Angelo Lucchi will have his time well occupied if any of these sluggers start peeing off. Many fans have said how similar Gibson and Jimmy Fox, the former Boston Red Sox first sacker look in a uniform. Double X is quite a slugger so fans can realize what kind of a batter Gibson is. Other stars with the Homesteads are Jerry Benjamin, Vic Harris, Howard Easterling and Sammy Bankhead, all rated among the best Negro ball tossers of the day.

Manager Hoffman doesn't figure on making any changes in the lineup that faced and defeated the Black Yankees. Ralph Coleman, Manny Gomez, Jimmy Girvan and Buddy Van Herpe will hold sway in the infield with Tommy Maines, Ernie Downer and Angelo Lucchi in the outfield. Kim Williams is slated to do the catching again.

Commandos Rout Gang

Commandos attacked by gangsters did not need to use their weapons to land their opponents in prison at Glasgow, Scotland. Martin Carroll and John Thomson admitted attacking the commandos with bottles and other weapons in a motion picture theatre. Both were speedily subdued without use of firearms.

Dutch Treat Foreseen

As a means of curbing the "restaurant hog," Dutch treats, among other things, are being considered by the Food Ministry in London. The proposals are: only one knife and fork for diners; a no-treating order, with each person paying for his or her own meal; reducing selection of dishes; control of prices.

Skipper Deserts Ship

Captain Luis A. Brau of Buenos Aires, Argentina, has lost his master's certificate because he abandoned his ship, the Inspector Benedetti, in a storm off the Brazilian coast. He was charged with gross negligence and incompetence. His appeal to the Federal Courts was turned down.

Ceylon's new ceramic industry

will be under government control.

Van Gonsic Rolls 233 Single Last Night in Victory

Mark Misses High Record by Two Pins; Senior Registers 543 for Douglas Bombers

At the Central Recreation alleys last night in the regular weekly schedule of the Victory Bowling League, Tony Van Gonsic, anchor man for the Wildcats, nearly established a new high single for the loop when he crashed out a high-powered 233 in his second game.

However, Van Gonsic's great game failed to lift the club to any great heights as they proceeded to drop three games to the Douglas Bombers. The three setbacks also dropped the Wildcats out of their tie for first place.

Jake Senior and Ray Otto sparked the Bombers to three straight victories with triples of 543 and 539. Senior's three-game total was the highest for the night. He blasted out games of 172, 203 and 168. Otto had 145, 182 and 212.

Van Gonsic started off with a 133 game but came back in the second for his 233 and finished up with 149 for a 515 series. Tony's triple last night missed Johnny Frederick's high of 235 and Jake Senior's 234.

The Flying Tigers resumed their winning way last night by taking all three games from the Tomahawks. The Tigers have now won 11 out of 15 games to date. Phil Gaff sparked the Tigers last night with his 496 triple and 182 high single. Johnny Frederick and Frank Leski came in with 466 and 462. Frank Ackley was high for the Tomahawks with a 499 triple.

Joe Weiss rallied the Spitfires out of their prolonged slump with a 532 triple and helped his club to take two games from the Flying Fortresses. The Fortresses came through in the first game but the Spitfires bounced back with triumphs in the second and third games. Weiss also posted the high single of the match with 181. Nick LaLima had a 470 triple for the losers.

The Hurricanes kept up their fight to retain a top division berth last night by coping two games from the Blenheims. Bob Townsend posted a high single of 205 and a triple of 498 for the winners. Orv Van Alstyne had 493 and Mike Amato 491. Emil Jordan registered 458 for the Blenheims.

Jake Senior, secretary of the league announced last night that the matches scheduled for Thursday, July 23 and Thursday, August 6, will be rolled at 6:45 o'clock instead of the regular 8 o'clock hour. This change has been made to allow the bowlers to attend the Bushwick-Recreation game on July 23 and the Boston Brave-Recreation contest August 6. All bowlers are asked to keep these two changes in mind.

Clowns Register Second Title in Independent Loop

League Champs Awarded 100 Forfeit Game Over Bombers to Clinch Honors

The Twaalfskill Country Club Clowns captured their second straight Independent League championship Wednesday night when they were awarded a 10 to 0 forfeit game by the Bombers. The Clowns finished with a record of eight wins and no setbacks.

In the past two campaigns the Clowns have swept through all competition thus establishing a ### new league record of 15 victories

and no defeats. The Clowns came in second to the Clowns but proved to be no real opposition as the Clowns had turned them back by the easy count of 11 to 5.

With the Clowns displaying plenty of vaunted batting power, Bill Houghtaling, their ace pitcher, had little to worry about in any of his games. The closest call came in the Matthews contest which the Clowns were trailing by 1 to 0 in the last inning. A three-run rally, however, kept the club in full gear.

Following is the record of the Clowns showing the batting powers:

Clowns 7, U.B.K. 3; Clowns 10, Yankees 3; Clowns 11, Centrals 5; Clowns 10, Harlem Aces 0; Clowns 8, Cyclones 3; Clowns 10, Raichies 0; Clowns 3, Matthews 1; Clowns 10, Bombers 0. Per game this record gives the Clowns an average of eight runs per game while the opposition was limited to but one each contest.

Dodgers Triumph Over Reds by 3-2; Yankees, Sox Win

Hank Borowy Pitches Victory; Wyatt Downs Redlegs

(By The Associated Press)

With long rests behind all of them, pennant drives in front of some of them and artificial light around most of them, major league pitchers enjoyed one of their best days of the season yesterday.

As the teams returned to action after the three-day intermission for all-star games, both leagues produced some sparkling mound performances, including a four-hitter in 11 innings, four five-hitters and a trio of six-hit jobs, two of which still weren't good enough to win.

Red Sox Triumph

Five of the winners had the help of the arc lights last night, but the masterpiece of the day was the 11-inning stinging of Charlie Wagner, who held the Detroit Tigers to four blows in pitching the Boston Red Sox to a 2-1 decision in broad daylight.

Hal Newhouse, Wagner's opponent, pitched four-hit ball for ten innings but yielded two singles in the 11th and Manager Joe Cronin inserted himself as a pinch hitter, bringing in Boston's winning run with a long fly.

The Red Sox needed the victory to stay within four lengths of the American League leading New York Yankees, who dropped the St. Louis Browns, 5-2. Hank Borowy kept his place at the top of the circuit's pitching ranks by holding the Browns to six safeties but had to have help in the eighth inning when a blister appeared on his pitching hand.

It was the seventh triumph against one defeat for Borowy, who was aided by the long-distance clouting of Joe DiMaggio. Tommy Henrich and Charlie Keller against three Brownie hurlers.

Buddy Blair helped Phil Marchildon of the Philadelphia Athletics whip the Cleveland Indians, 5-2, in a night game. Marchildon turned in a five-hitter after a shaky first inning and Blair lashed a home run and a triple, driving in two runs and scoring twice himself.

In another night tilt on the American League program, the Chicago White Sox dumped the Washington Senators, 4-2, as Johnny Humphries hurled five-hit ball and didn't permit a runner to get past first base after the third inning.

Wyatt Wins for Dodgers

Whitlow Wyatt pitched and batted the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 3-2 decision over Johnny Vander Meer and the Cincinnati Reds. Wyatt held the Reds to five blows and collected one of his team's six hits, a single that brought in the runs and helped chase Vander Meer to the showers in the second inning.

While Wyatt was notching his ninth victory against two defeats under the lights at Cincinnati, the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the New York Giants, 9-0, to maintain their pace eight and a half games behind the first-place Dodgers in the National League.

John J. Beazley shut out the Giants on six hits while his mates pounded three New York pitchers for ten blows, including two home runs, two triples and a double. Beazley himself sparked a six-run Cardinal uprising in the sixth inning, smacking a three-bagger with the bases loaded.

The Philadelphia Phils met a similar fate at Pittsburgh, where the Pirates whitewashed them, 9-0, in a night game for armynavy relief which drew 29,488 fans and a gate of $36,308.51.

Rip Sewell handcuffed the Phils on five hits, but had only a one-run advantage over Rube Melton when the latter was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth. Then the roof fell in on three relievers who were tagged for seven hits and

Newburgh's draft board, No. 303, on Thursday was composed of Ralph Tompkins—its newest member—and of no one else. J. Milton Hare resigned to Mayor Warden Wednesday, a day after Daniel Becker had asked to be relieved of draft board duties.

Not that the draft board is shut down, says the Newburgh News, but the fact remains that Mayor Warden is in a bit of quandary, and he has turned to the State Selective Service for help and advice.

For the facts reveal, the resignations are not based on ordinary reasons, but, if one would believe the talk on the street, Becker and Hare are turning in their credentials because of excessive intrusion of state draft authorities in Newburgh affairs.

Swift Trial Lies Ahead for Bahr, Espionage Suspect

en to him to smuggle out of Germany.

The FBI said Bahr was born in Klosserfelde, Germany, August 27, 1913, and came to the United States with his family in 1926, living in Buffalo. He went to Germany in 1938 as an exchange student and studied at a technical school at Hanover, where he received a degree.

In Buffalo, Bahr's gray-haired mother, Mrs. Minnie Bahr, sobbed and cried "I can't believe it—I can't believe it" on learning of her son's arrest.

To a newsman who asked to borrow a picture of her son, she shouted:

"I don't want it. We have lost Karl. We have lost him forever." Bahr's brother, George, 25, an employee of the Curtiss-Wright aircraft plant at Buffalo, who changed the spelling of his name several years ago, said Karl "was specializing in his studies in diesel engineering" and it was "hard to believe that my brother was connected with any such activities."

The FBI meanwhile continued its drive to wipe out the German-American bond by arresting 11 more members in New York city to bring to 124, including 21 women, the number of prisoners taken in three days as dangerous enemy aliens.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Thorn Lord said in Newark he would present the evidence against Bahr to the federal grand jury on Tuesday and expected an indictment would be returned the same day.

Nazi Armies Push Across Don River

peared to be narrowing Rommel's escape corridor from the "bottle-neck," 70 miles west of the big Alexandria naval base, despite the Axis chieftain's efforts to prevent just such a maneuver. Dispatches from Cairo several days ago said Gen. Rommel, with his armies exhausted by their 350-mile sweep across the desert from Tobruk, was attempting to build a "wall" to guard his southern flank against British attacks which might ultimately cut off his avenue of retreat to the west.

The new Axis setback, indicating growing British strength in the critical struggle for the Nile and the Suez Canal, was the fourth since Gen. Auchinleck's revitalized 8th army turned on the invaders at El Alamein a week ago.

"In the southern sector, our mobile columns engaged enemy forces, including tanks, and forced them to move northward," British G.H.Q. announced.

Dispatches from Cairo said that while there was no immediate expectation that Rommel might be forced to execute a general withdrawal, the British were confident they could keep the Axis leader so busy fighting off flanking thrusts that he could not regroup his columns for a new offensive.

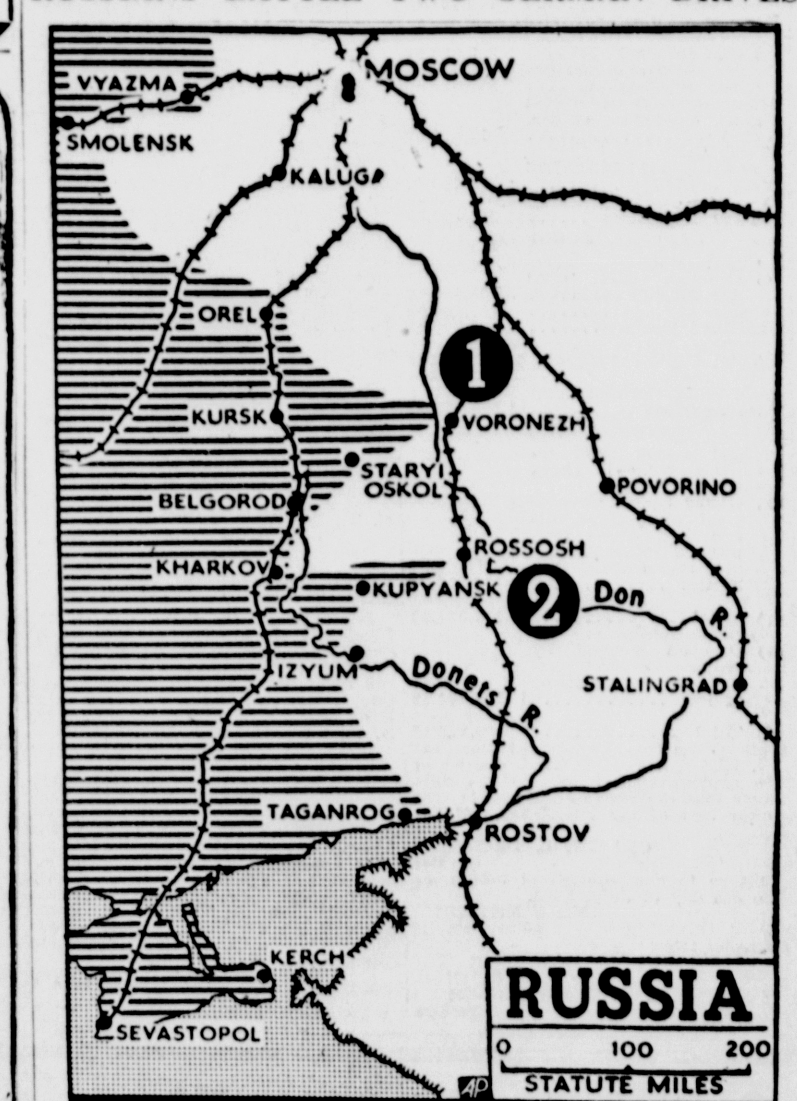

Cairo observers said Rommel apparently hoped to avoid a showdown battle for two or three weeks to rest his troops, receive reinforcements and rebuild his striking power.

Says Election Affirmed

Attorney Charles de la Vergne said this morning that the published statement that the Local 17, Hod Carriers and Common Laborers, election, held last February, in which Fred Dusing of Kerhonkson defeated Samuel Nuzzo by a vote of 207 to 189, "had not been certified as binding" was incorrect. Mr. de la Vergne said that the election in question had been affirmed by Justice Bergan and later the Appellate Division had confirmed Justice Bergan's decision.

S. destroyer Sturtevant off the Florida coast late in April, has since been promoted to Lieutenant Senior Grade, U. S. Navy and is now stationed at the Naval Dispensary, Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla. He has been on the high seas on convoy duty since December 1941. Lieut. Rosenbaum, the onetime ranking tennis player of Newburgh, was graduated from Newburgh Free Academy and the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University in New York, and practiced his profession in New York and Kingston.

Strike Might Come

Detroit, July 10 (AP)—A rent strike by more than 200,000 members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) in the Detroit area would be started "if real estate interests succeed in their present drive to raise above the ceiling," Victor G. Reuther, assistant co-ordinator of the union's war policy division, warned Thursday. The statement was based on an appeal from Detroit apartment landlords to the office of price administrator that they be permitted to increase rents possibly five per cent above the existing ceiling.

A birds' nest composed of human whiskers revealed that a tramp had died from thirst several miles from Mt. Wallace, Australia.

Curren Explains Defense Methods

State Fire Defense Agent Gives Demonstration at Local Auditorium

An interesting demonstration of the dangers of fire was given Thursday evening in the municipal auditorium by E. F. Curren of the State Fire Defense. Mr. Curren gave a total of 17 demonstrations during the evening, four to explain control of common causes of fires in the home; nine of the danger from bombs, and four types of fire extinguishers.

Mr. Curren gave an interesting demonstration of time bombs used in the World War, and explained that they resembled ordinary bombs except that they were timed to explode when 50 to 100 feet above the ground. The explosion caused particles of the bomb to scatter when it explodes, but come together again to produce a vacuum strong enough to pull nearby houses together.

He demonstrated by placing a can filled with hot steam into cold water. The vacuum caused by the contact of the heat and cold crushed the can.

Mr. Curren also explained the British "calling cards" which is a cellophane card dipped in phosphorus, and it is used in the present war to cause fires. Phosphorus he explained must be kept under water because the reaction of oxygen causes it to burn.

These calling cards are dipped into phosphorus before being dropped from a plane and the card ignites and is burning by the time it reaches the earth. The cards are used mostly to fire enemy grain fields.

Mr. Curren also spoke of the large number of children who are crippled each year by mixing strange things. He illustrated his point by mixing ordinary sawdust and commercial bleach and then added water which caused it to ignite.

The speaker discussed the danger of using crepe paper to decorate rooms as well as the danger of using various types of plastics.

Mr. Curren's interesting talk and demonstrations was heard by an audience of 300 persons.

N.Y.A. Woodworking Is Now Taught at Woodstock

The National Youth Administration is now sponsoring a course in woodworking at Woodstock for all youths out of school and between the ages of 17 and 25.

The shop at Woodstock is equipped with the best machinery and tools. The course offers instructions in the use of the electric saw, the electrical plane and various other instruments used in this type of work. All of this work is carried on under excellent supervision.

Formerly this shop was open to boys only but due to the part women will now play in industry, this course is now being offered to girls too.

Gandhi Holds Talks

Wardha, India, July 9 (delayed) (AP)—Wizened Mohandas K. Gandhi brushed aside his physicians' advice to rest and went ahead with his Indian Congress colleagues today in a conference seeking agreement on action to free India from British rule without paying the way for the Japanese to come in. Concerned about overwork and exhaustion from which the shriveled little Indian leader has lost much ill-spared weight in the past three months, Gandhi's physicians have urged him to rest for two weeks as soon as possible. A medical bulletin said, however, there was no reason for anxiety. In consideration for Gandhi's weakened condition, the conferees have been meeting in a one room schoolhouse, part of Gandhi's school colony, at Sevagram, five miles from here.
